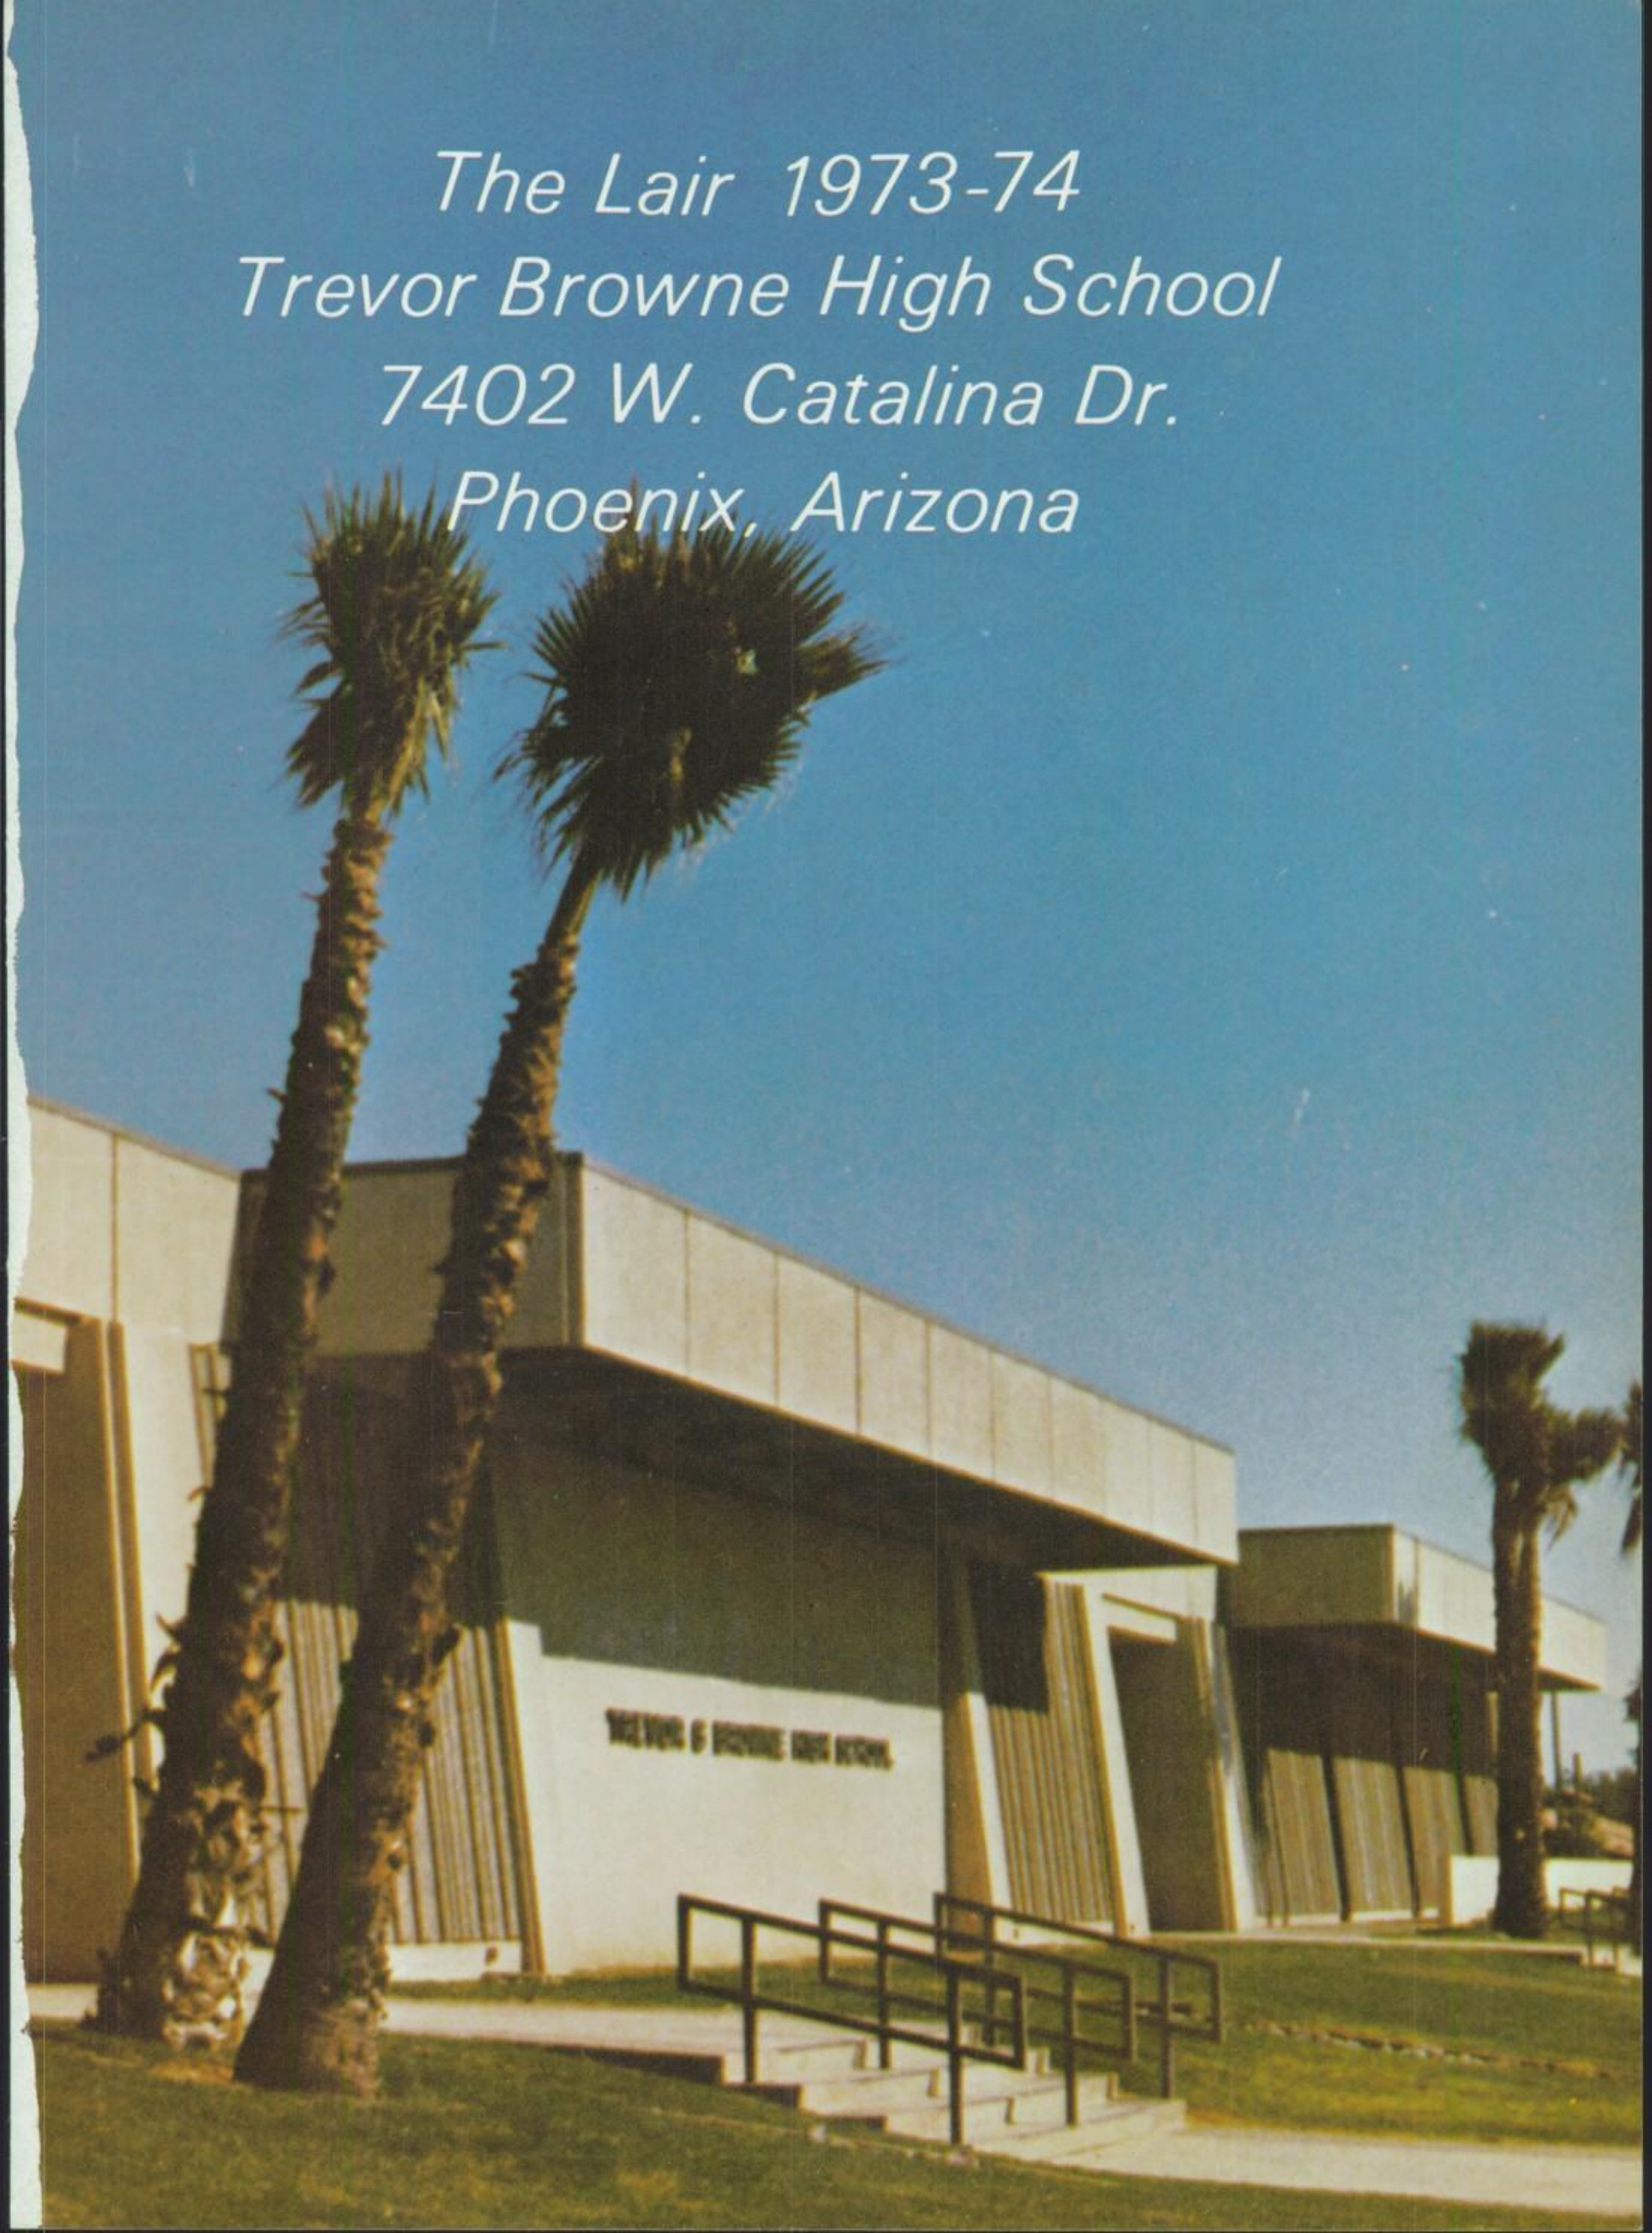
Trevor Browne High School
7402 W. Catalina Dr.
Phoenix, Arizona



New at T.G

Refreshing might be a word used to describe the individuality of Trevor Browne. The open concept, just beginning at other high schools in the district, allows an air of freedom among students and faculty. Team teaching, block classes, and free periods are all part of the newness that Trevor Browne represents. The Community School program attempts to tie the surrounding community into the curriculum through night classes and the planned park next to the school. Another "new" just this year is landscaping as shown on these two pages. Tall palms and green grass have transformed the front of the school from a would-be prison to a modern building.

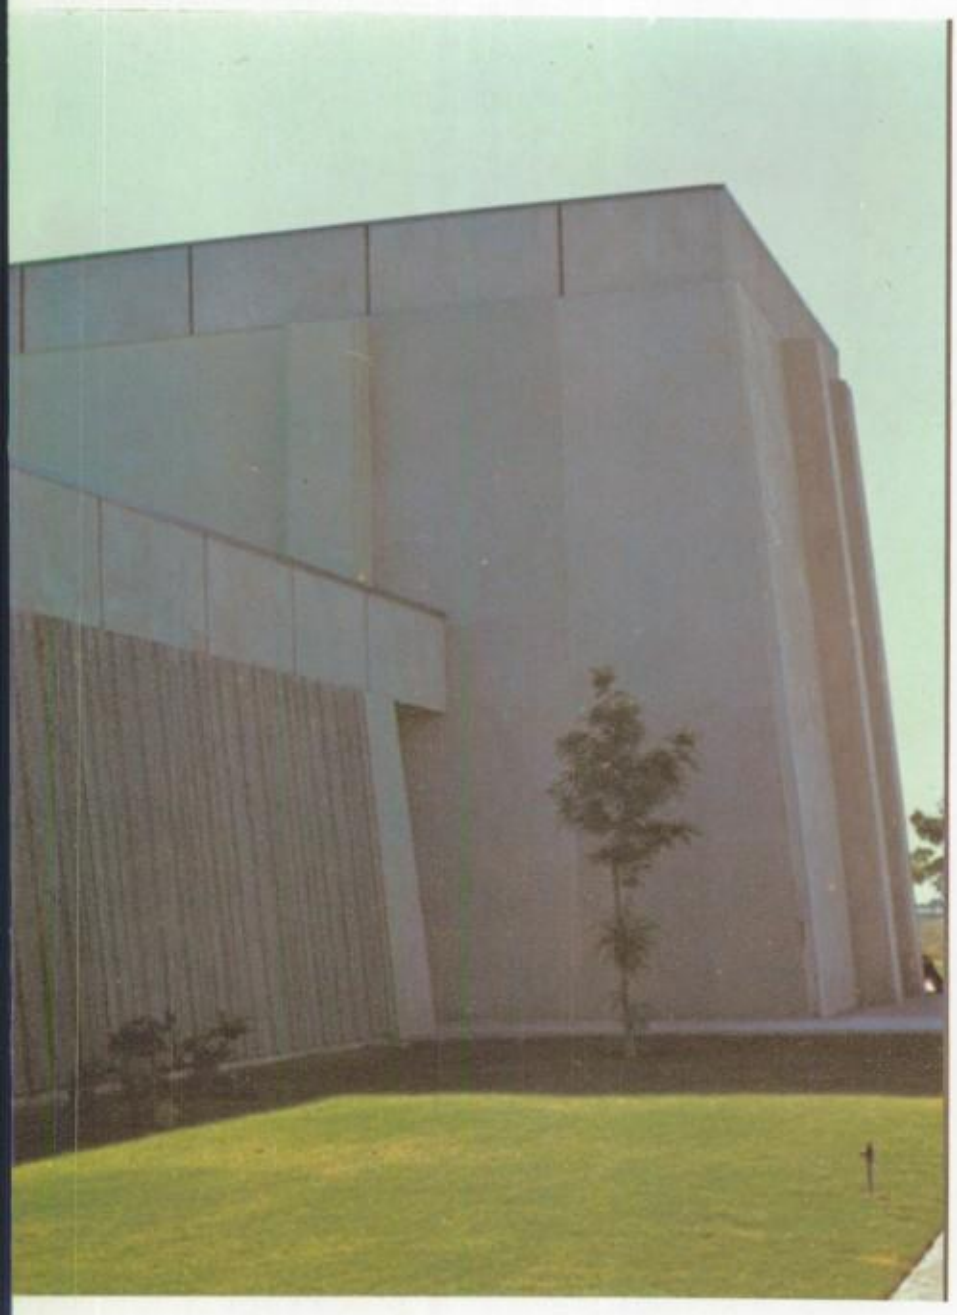
Trevor G. Browne High School is one of the newest and most modern high schools in the Phoenix Union System. The architects, Guirey, Srnka, Arnold, and Sprinkle, designed the school to resemble a ziggurat (Babylonian temple.)

The auditorium consists of four lecture halls seating 200 students each. In the science department the students work from laboratory units each serving two students. These are equipped with a sink and outlets for gas and electricity. This department also includes faculty offices, a dispensary, student project rooms, and rooms for computer terminals. The IMC in addition to the library contains a television studio, production center for instructional aids, audio-visual center, seminar rooms, conference rooms, journalism center, photography laboratories, foreign language instruction carrels and offices.

...architecture



Browne has been organized using the "house plan." Three small houses each with an enrollment of approximately 800 students, are clustered around the instructional materials center. The classrooms in each house open into a large resource center in which the counselors', teachers', and house directors' offices are located. The walls are formed by moveable panels which allow the classrooms to be as large or small as desired. The open concept seems to be very flexible at Browne.

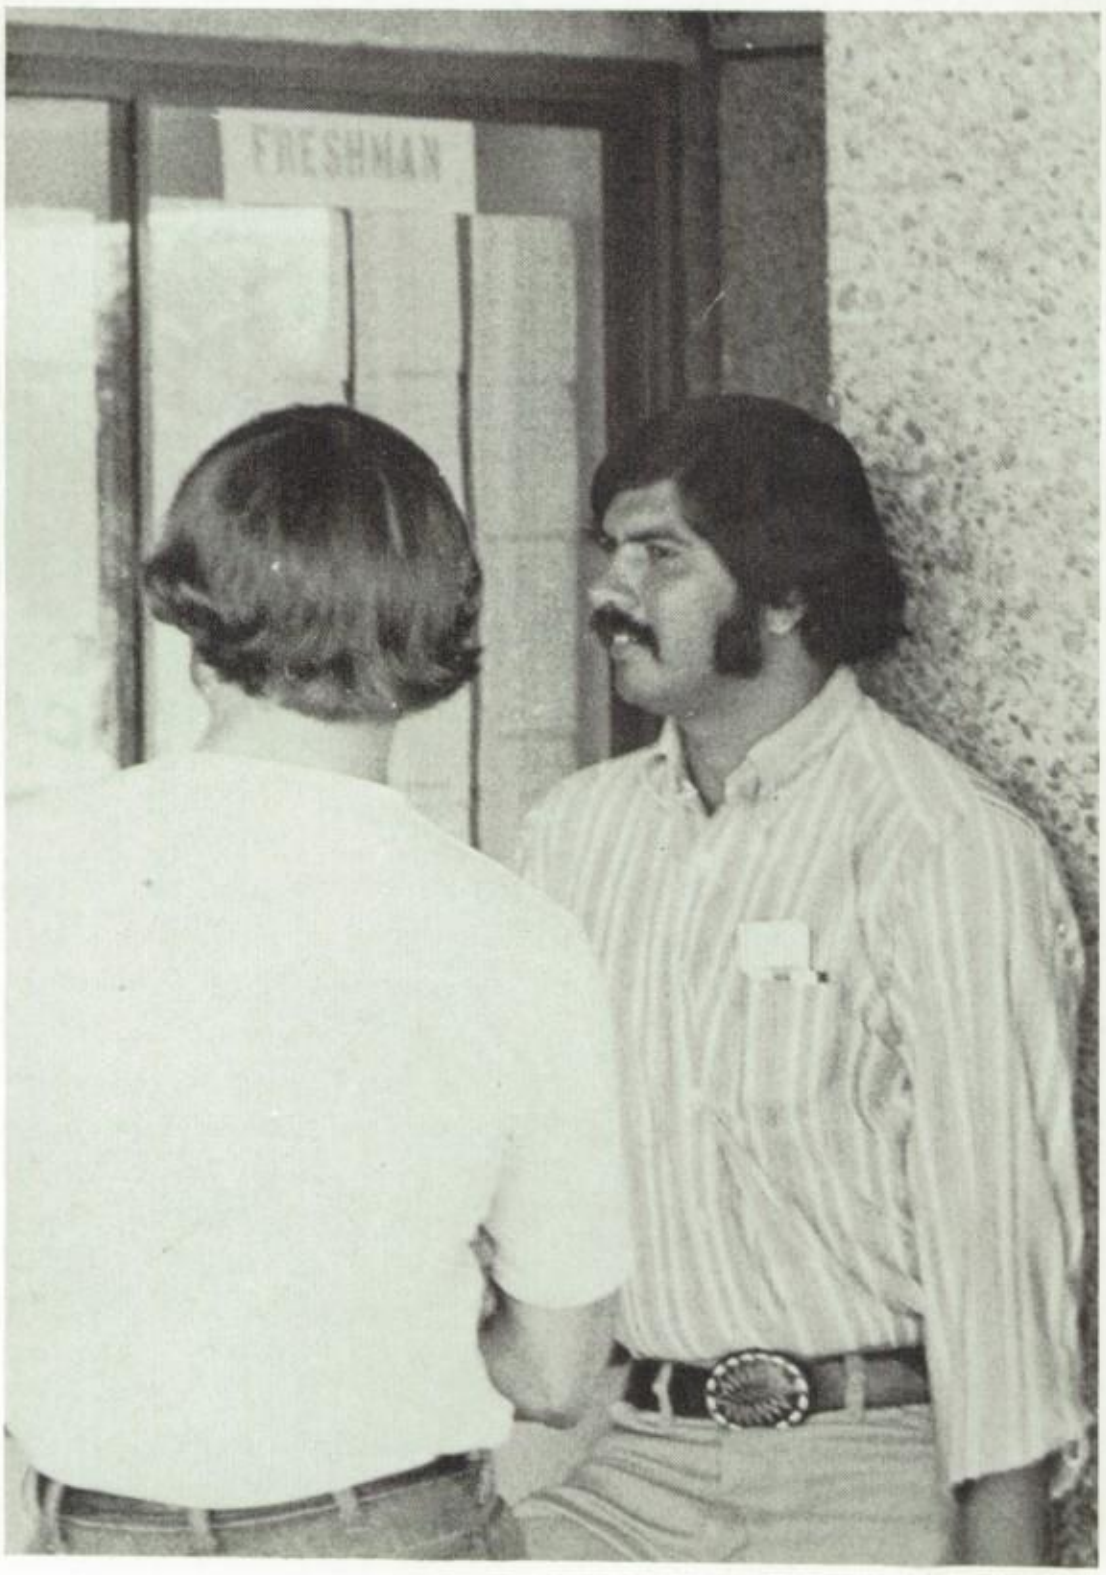
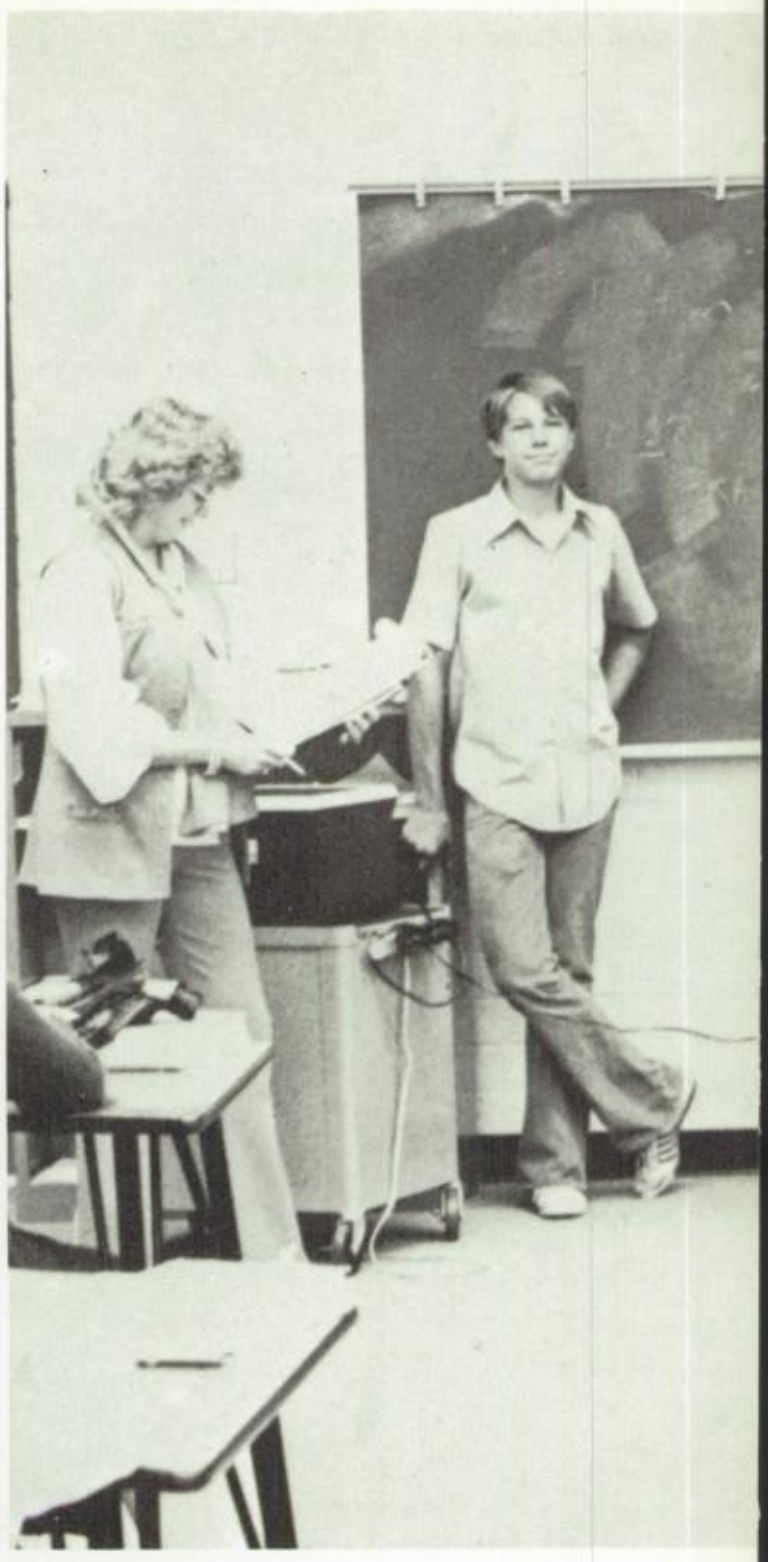
This year we have a security chief, Mr. Anderson, and four security guards, Jesse Martinez, Alex Gonzales, David Garcia and Joan Hoyt. Instant radio communications keep the security guards informed on what is happening throughout the school. Within the Phoenix Union High School System security guards have reduced nighttime burglary to over 85% across the district during the first three quarters of this year.





Team teaching, a cooperative effort teaching two classes simultaneously in t subject matter areas, is one of the n ideas being used at Browne. Educationall relatively old idea, at Browne, teams tea freshman and sophomore classes in variety of exciting ways. Freshmen are giv English, government, free enterprise a Arizona history over the year's spa Sophomore block classes consist of Engli and American history. The combining subject matter areas and having two cla periods allows for more flexible use of ti and resources.

In the team teaching situation, teache plan lessons together and students bene from having to do one assignment for bo teachers, in some instances. Scheduling activities is flexible, as two 45 minu periods are available for division into many segments as needed for either clas

A recent book, Future Shock by Alvin Toffler poignantly captures some of the rapid changes that are occurring in our society and their serious implications for all human beings. Public education has not escaped this change. Our schools are becoming larger, more complex, and unfortunately more impersonal. We need to make efforts to personalize education and help the student establish a home base within our schools— a place where he feels he belongs.

The homeroom can become this home for students. Each student will have an opportunity to relate to a significant adult and a group of significant students for the entire four years of high school. Student government, intramural competition, a big brother-big sister concept for new students, orientation program and other types of activities can be initiated through the homeroom period.

The homeroom period can also provide some of the needed guidance and administrative services such as registration for next year's classes, schedule changes, college and scholarship information, career information and various other guidance functions. The more complex or individualized situations referred to the counselor assigned to that particular homeroom.

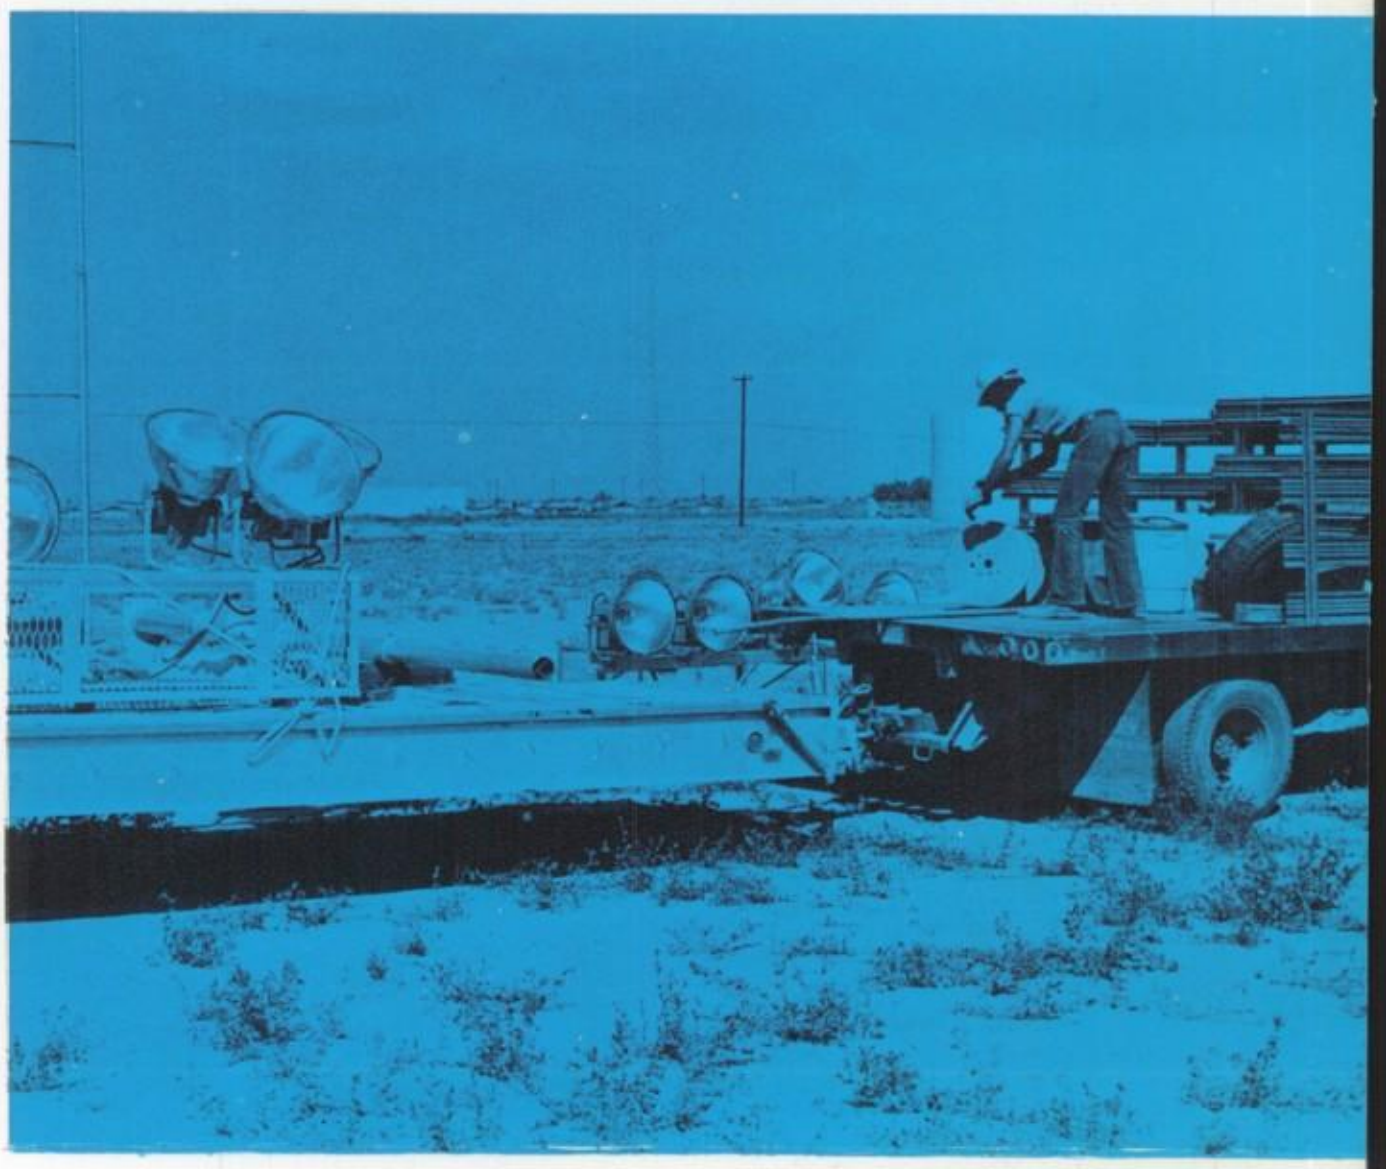
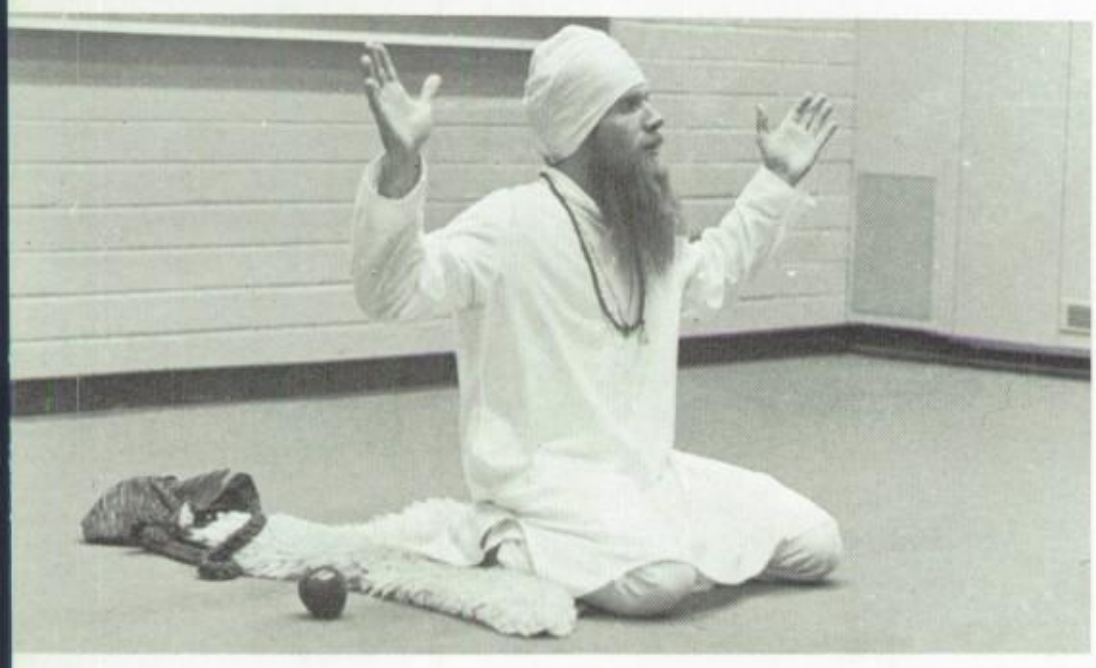
Trevor G. Browne is designed to be a community school. It is involved with the whole community. It includes a required and optional school program. The required school program is only for students who are required to attend school and take classes required by the state. The optional program not only includes high school students, but the residents of the entire community.

An important part of community school is the city park between Trevor G. Browne and Estrella Junior High. This is for the use of the entire community, anytime day or night. Even though it will take seven years to be completed, it will include tennis courts, a baseball diamond, an archery range, swimming pool, lagoon and amphitheater, and a picknicking area. Completed so far are the tennis courts, baseball diamond, and the light fixtures.

Mr. Don Cline, Community School Director, and Mr. Mike Whiting, Recreation Coordinator, have a joint responsibility for scheduling school and park facilities for after school activities.



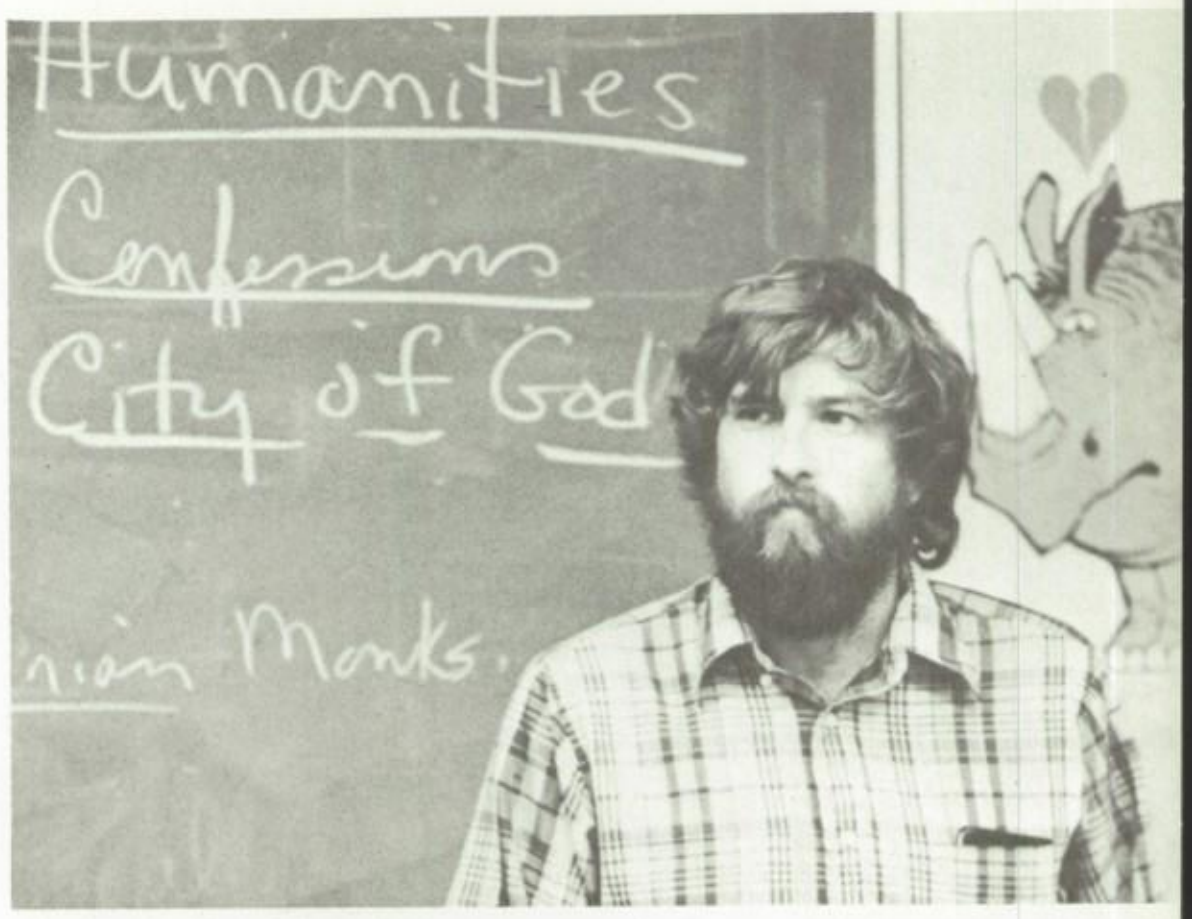
Park site to be completed in seven years

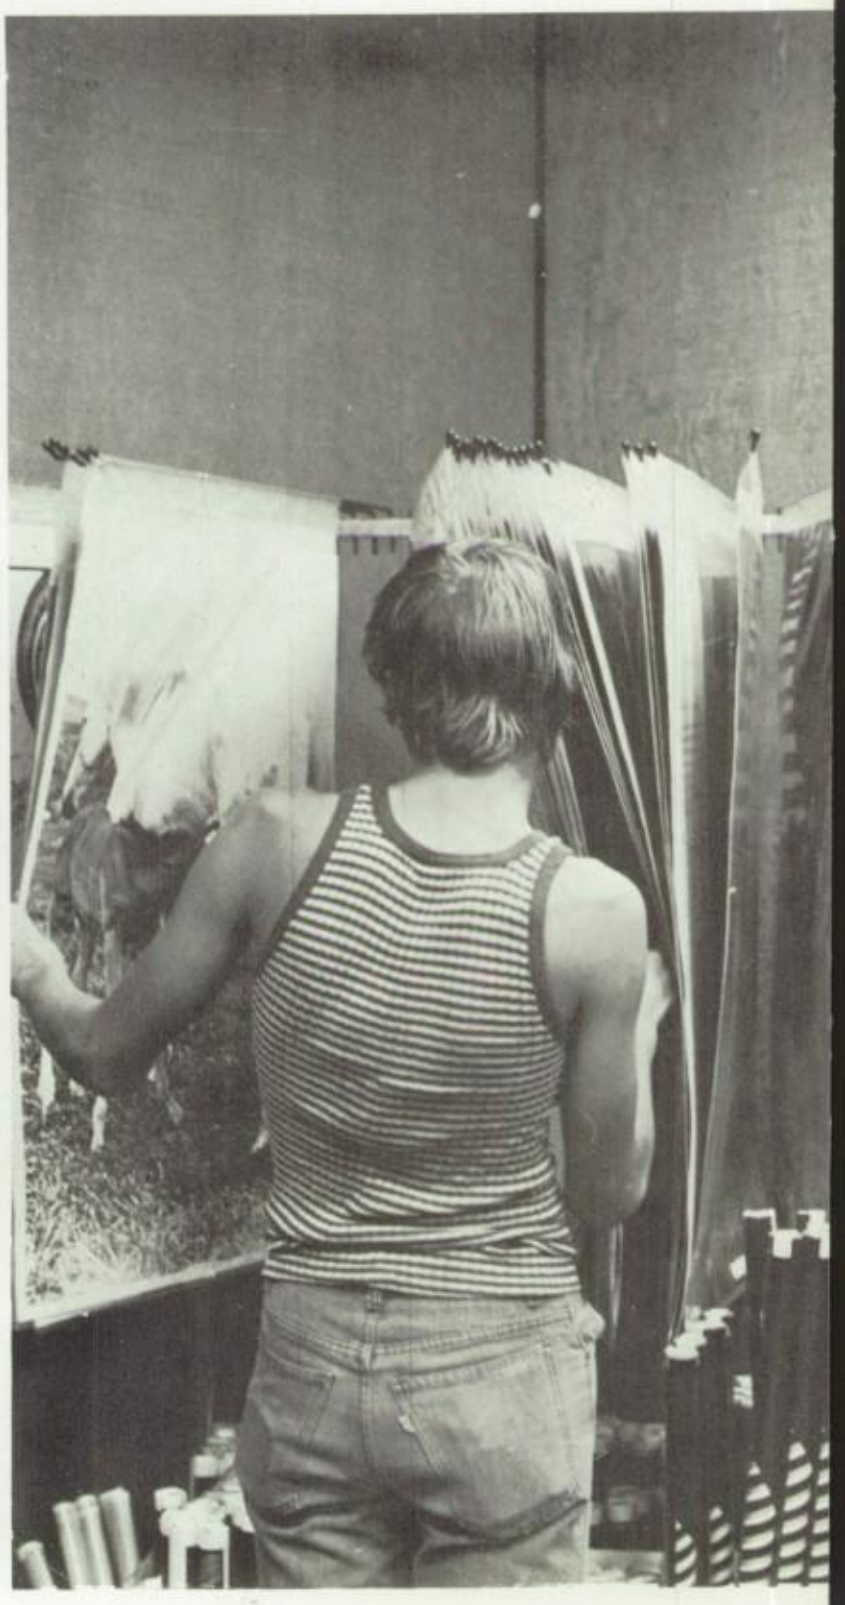


Community school is offered at all hours of the day and evenings, weekends and summers. Through surveys from the community, the educational and recreational activities are determined. Some classes offered are karate, which includes a wide age group; yoga; and wig grooming. Others include football fundamentals for women; decoupage; folk guitar; and cake decoration. The first Girl's Club in the Maryvale-Phoenix area has classes offered at Trevor G. Browne and Borman Junior High. Some classes offered are crafts, rap sessions, auto mechanics, and judo.

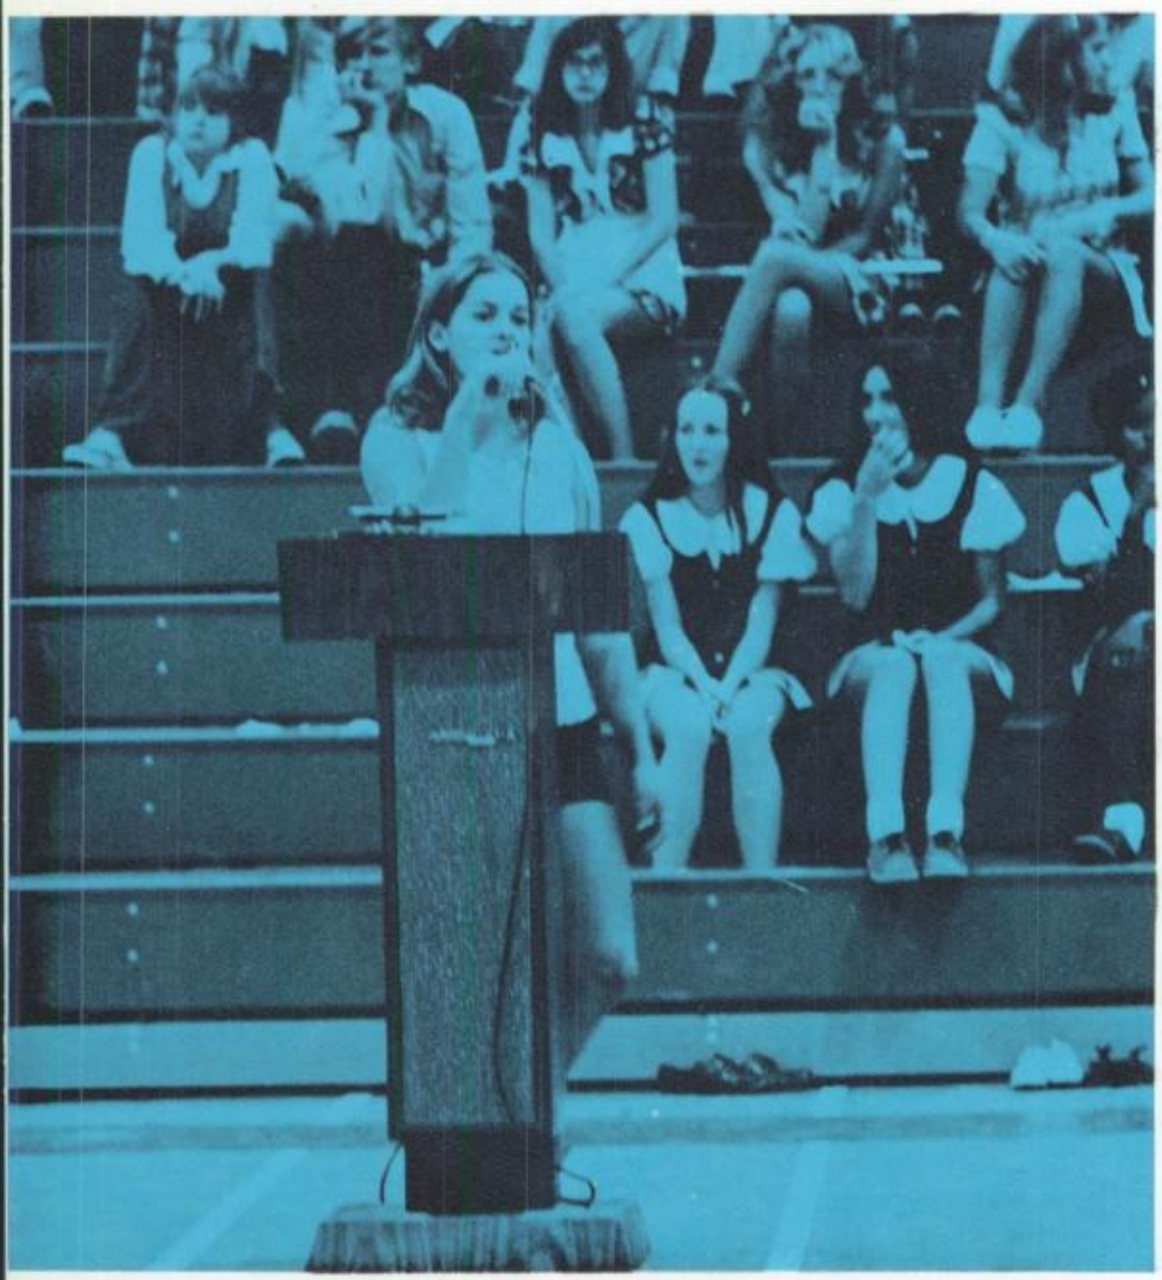
Student participation in all phases of school activities is one of the goals of the Browne philosophy. Students who run their own store on campus, have a local broadcasting station, set up and participate in assemblies, intermurals, and student government are just a few of the areas where students are encouraged to use their own ideas, initiative and creativity in producing a program for others to enjoy.

The Cubby Hole is a good example of student achievement. Operated by students in D.E.C.A., the mini-store sells items like posters, records, books and jewelry.





. . . Student participation

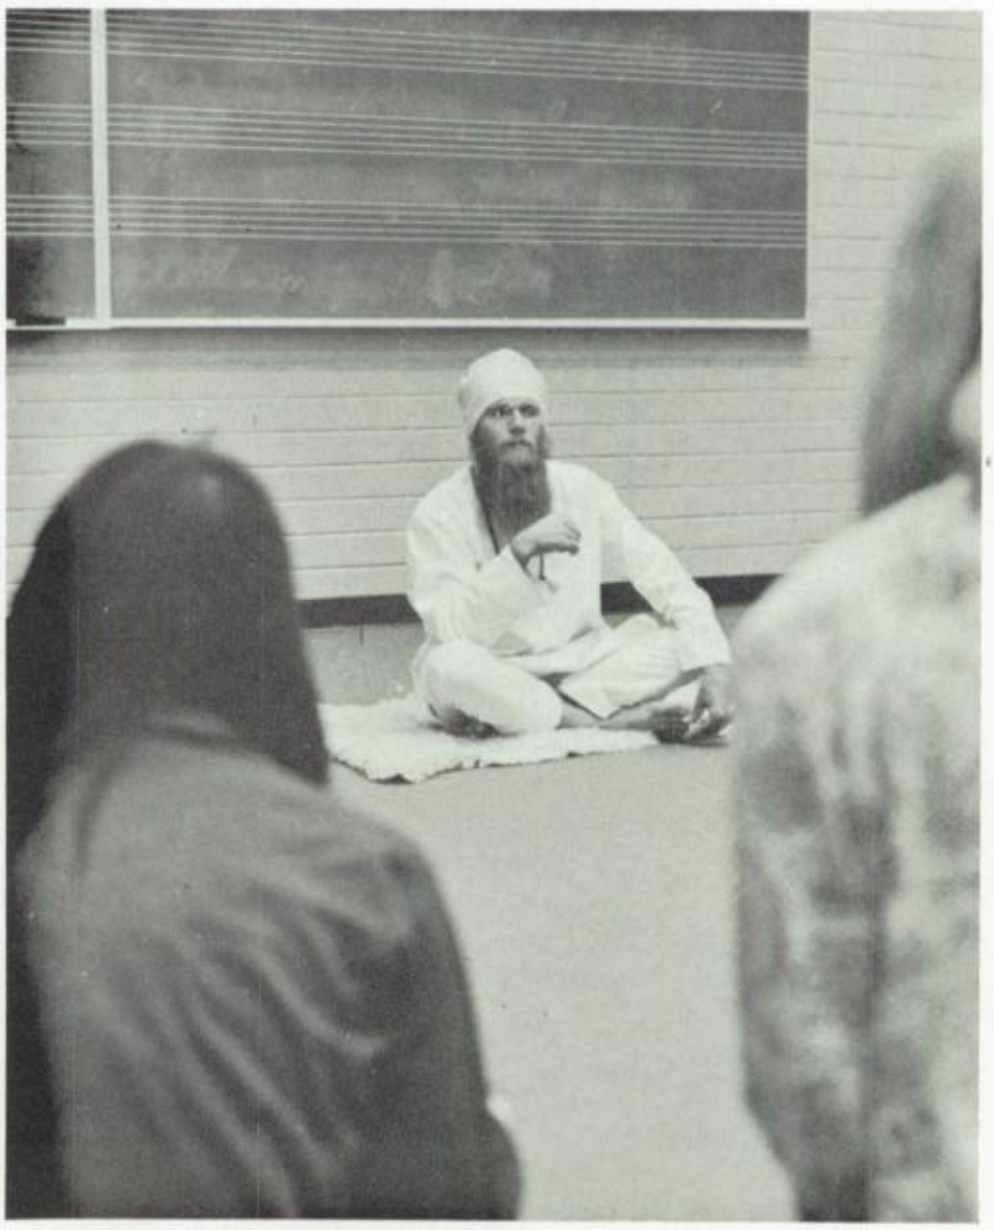


The Electronics Club operates the school radio station and students are encouraged to bring favorite records and tapes to be played for the campus audience.

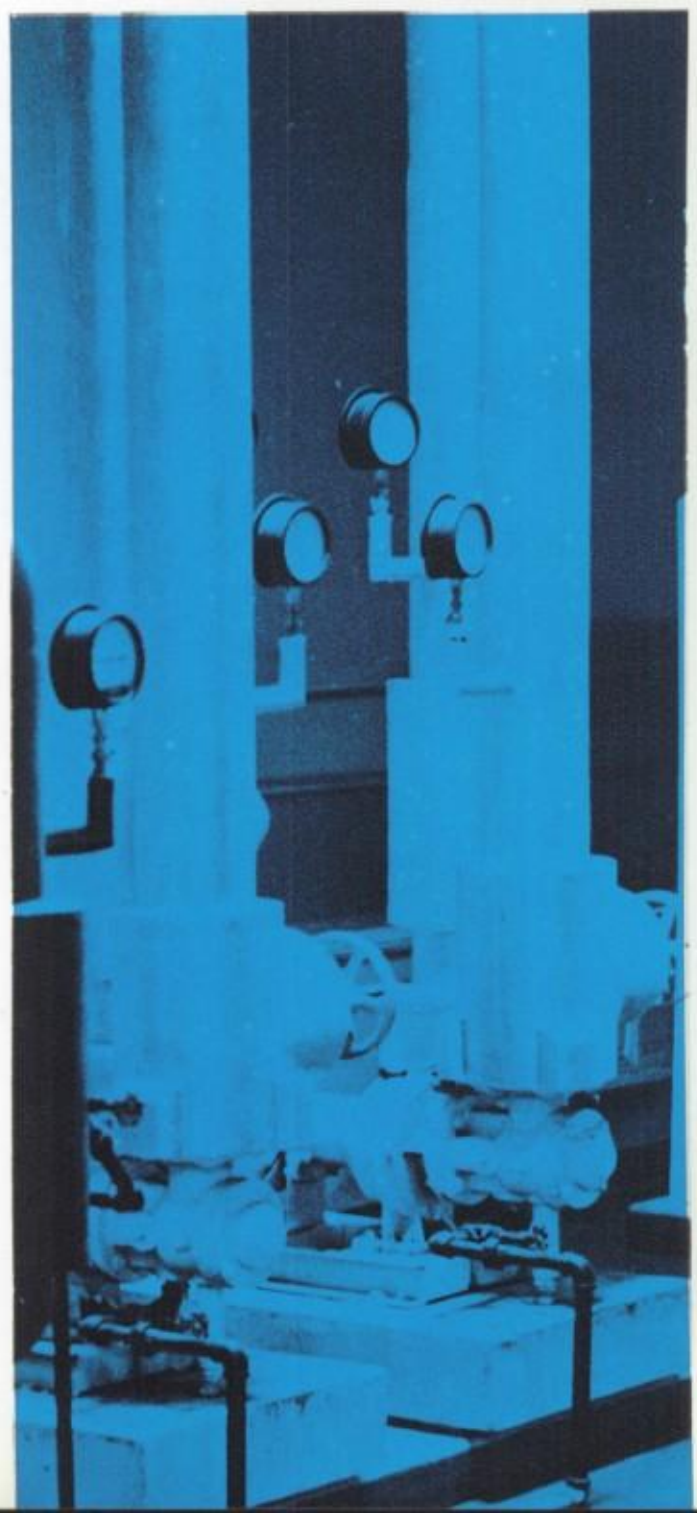
Inter-house competition in sports such as flag football, volleyball, basketball and other sports is completely organized and operated by students.

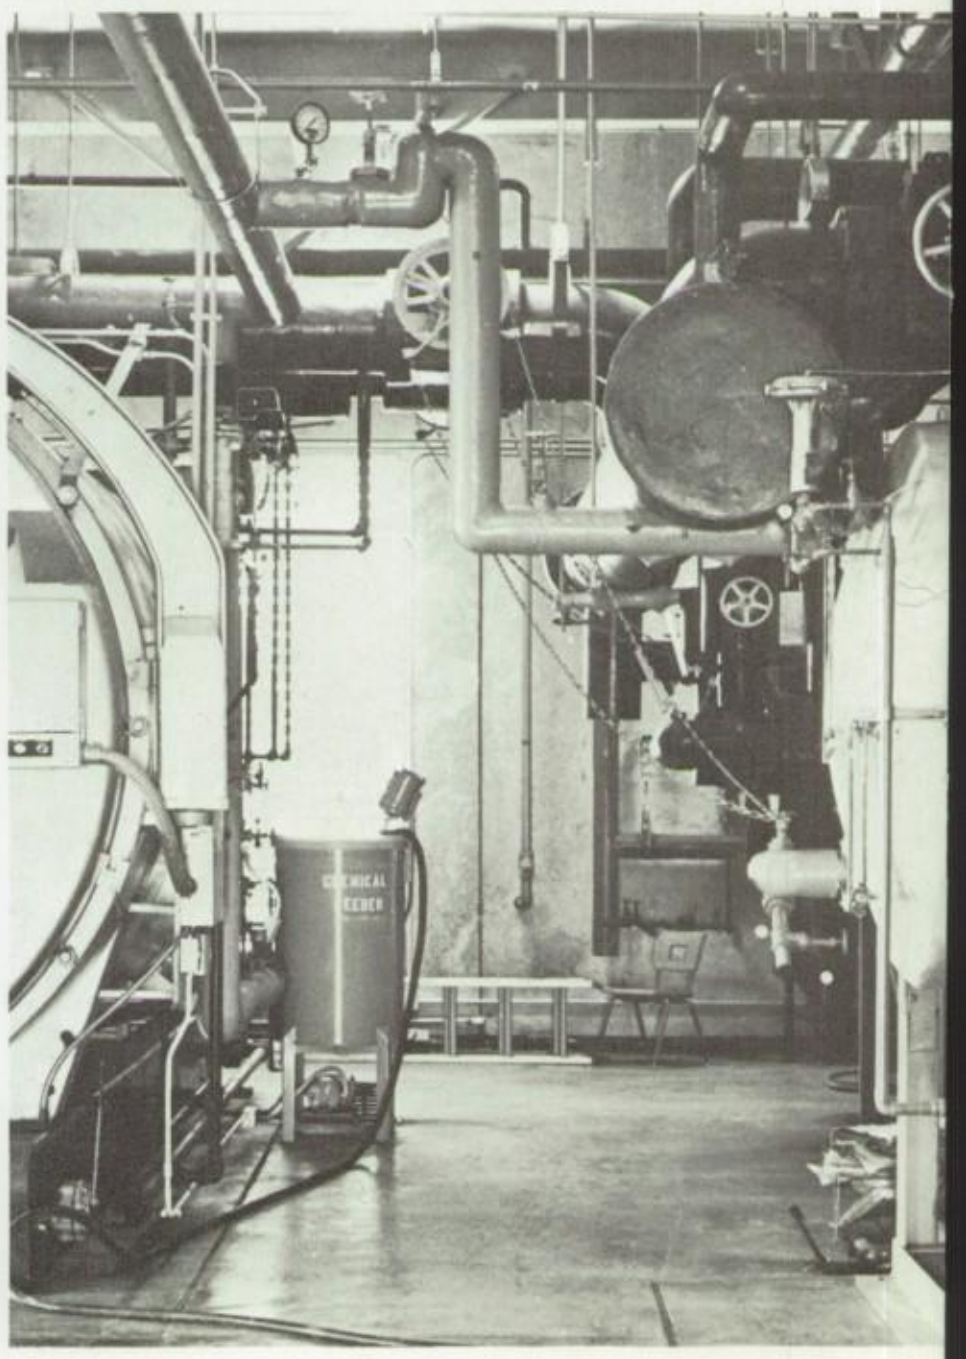
Student support has added humanities to the curriculum. This course encompasses history, philosophy and art. Mr. Fred Hanley teaches both classes and students indicated approval for the offering.

Yoga, a popular community school course, was requested by interested Browne students last year and the karate course was also requested by students who wanted to take the course.

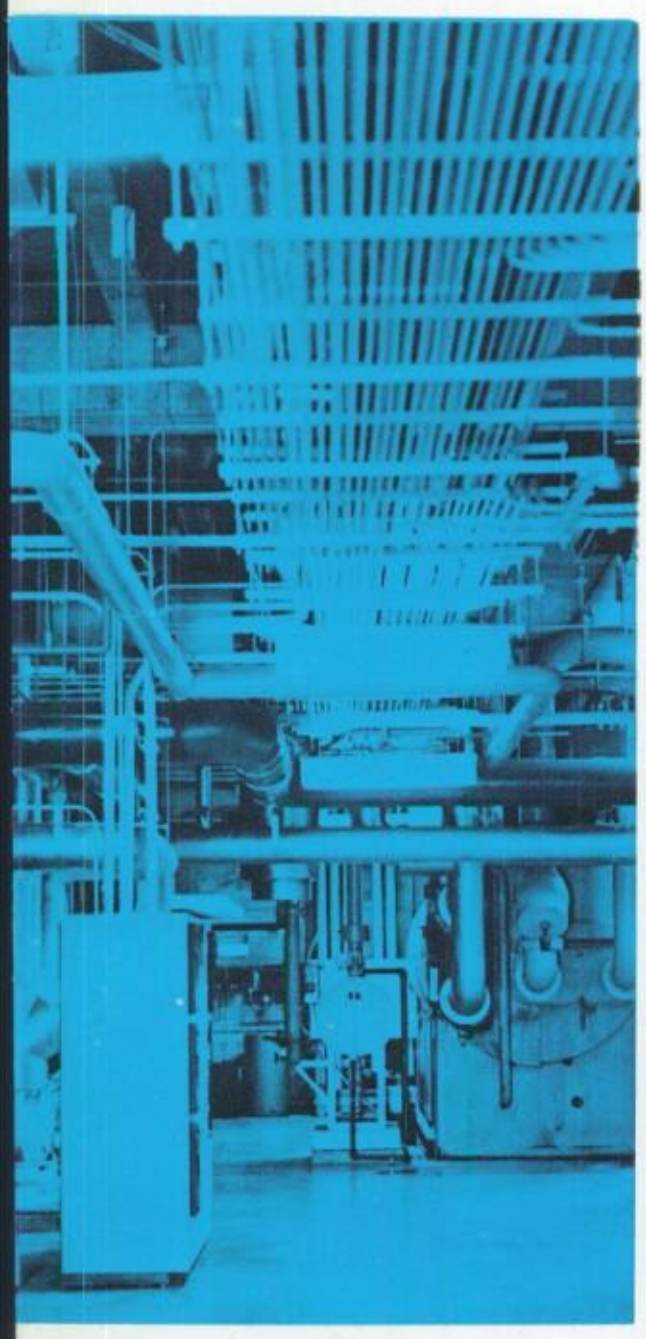


The T.G.B





no one sees



In a new school, with new students, there are some areas that are undiscovered to the uninitiated. An "unknown" to most students on campus are the inner workings of the boiler room. Here furnaces, air conditioning equipment and computerized temperature controls are installed. Water and sewer lines that regulate the school's very heartbeat are controlled from this building.

The catwalk in the auditorium is another of the places that most Browne students do not get a chance to visit. This catwalk is used by drama and others requiring special lighting for the auditorium stage.

Tunnels under the school that are used for electrical wiring and pipes is another of the "secret" places around Browne.

Assemblies Get Off to Slow Start

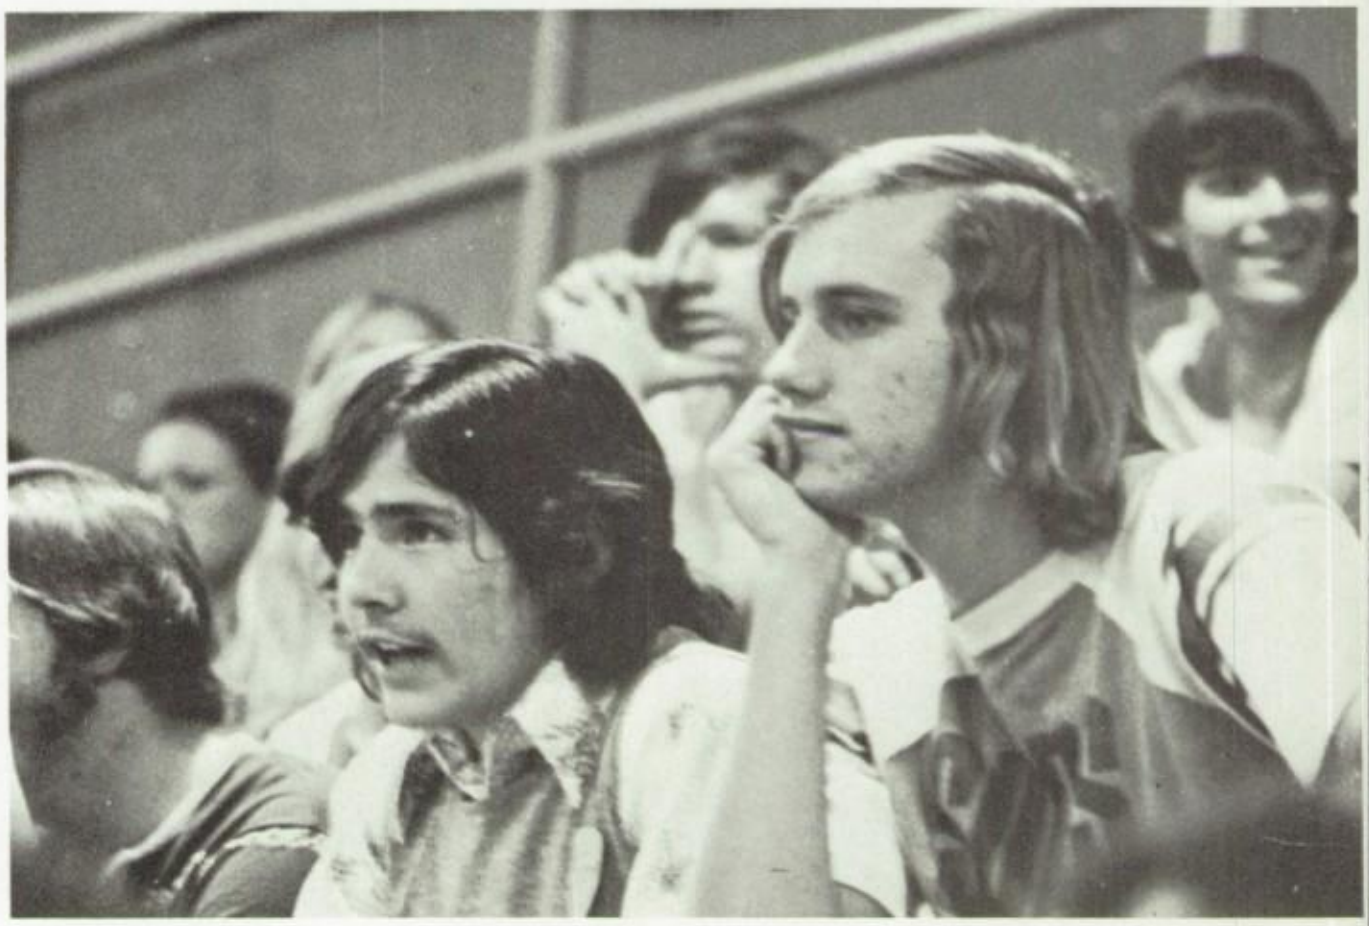
Pep assemblies at Browne have been changed from after-school on a shortened schedule to voluntary assemblies that are held after the regular school hours. Although this has a tendency of cutting down on attendance, most students still find the after-school assemblies enjoyable and entertaining.



Energy Crisis Concerns Students

As you can see, Trevor Browne's faculty and students have been greatly concerned about the energy crisis. On Thursday, December 13, 1973, Browne held a "conserve oil" day. Everyone was encouraged to get to school any way that would not use precious gasoline. Students' and facultys' imaginations soared. Some rode horses, some walked on stilts, some rode bicycles, some walked, and others even rode skate boards.

First Play Of The Year Great Success

Trevor Browne's first play of this year was "A Doll's House" by Henrik Ibsen. Production was back in the 1600's about Nora Helmer struggling for equality for the female sex. Little brothers and sisters of the members of Thespians were used as the Helmer's children. This was the first play directed by Barbi Finell and it went well considering it was a pure drama.

Three For One

The second production of the year were three one act comedies. They were "Three on a Bench," "Not Enough Rope," and "The People in the Glass Paperweight." "Three on a Bench" is the tale of two young sweethearts having an argument. "Not Enough Rope" is about how people in the world are selfish and simply don't care about others. "The People in the Glass Paperweight" is about two people that are hiding from the world and how a visitor changed their lives. Each play had its own student director and Barbi Finell also directed this play.

Chorus did excerpts from "Fiddler on the Roof" for their Valentine's Concert. The entire performing arts department worked on this production.

The Browne campus was blessed this year with many fine experiences brought onto the campus by visiting dignitaries of city and state-wide importance. Cultural, evaluative and learning experiences were possible through the cooperation of these people who gave their time and energy to teach Browne students something about the world outside the Browne campus.

Bruins Romp Homecoming Week

Tricycle races, cookie-eating, egg tosses, floats, human pyramids, strange fashions and many other novelties were exhibited Homecoming Week on the Browne campus.

Student government organized Homecoming Week this year. They promoted contests between houses during fifth and sixth periods each day. House 2 triumphed in the interhouse competition.

Friday night the culmination of activities included judging of floats that were built by clubs and organizations on campus, and half-time crowning ceremonies.

January 21–25 Student Government sponsored Spirit Week. The Mr. Lovely Legs contest began the week. Students were to put money in the box under the picture of the prettiest legs. Coach Zamboni was announced Mr. Lovely Legs. Tuesday the Miss Persuasion contest kept many girls frustrated. The girls were supposed to persuade the boys to talk to them and if successful, the girl took the boy's tag. The girl with the most tags, Josie Rodriquez, became Miss Persuasion. On Thursday, Backward Day, everything was supposed to be backward—clothes and behavior. Time was turned back twenty years on Friday. Students dressed in 50's and attended a Nifty 50's dance Friday night.

Strength and endurance are the keys in this year's cross country team. Up and down hills, along canal banks, through the desert and even just around the campus the boys run to prepare for this year's fall season. This year's leading runner is Kirk Rommeswinkel with Bill Steele, second, and Byron Flanders, third. In this year's division finals, the team was fifth and in the state finals, they placed twentieth. If you were looking at the score box, the lower wins in cross country running.

The South Mountain Rebels ground down a stubborn Bruin team in the last seconds of the final quarter, 29-23.

Top-Ten rated North High handed the Bruins a 23-7 score.

Rivalry between Maryvale and Browne reached fever pitch with the bitter clash on the gridiron that found Maryvale winning with a two point conversion and an 8-7 score at the end of the fourth quarter.

Injury-ridden Browne fights valiantly at the Homecoming game against Carl Hayden, but are given a 19-16 defeat after a tough struggle. Carl Hayden gains revenge for their homecoming defeat last year.

Trevor and West battle down to the wire in an exciting contest that ended with a close 27-26 score. The lack of a field goal kicker hampered the Bruin effort.

Freshman "B" football team or the lightweights as they are called, put out a fine effort this season although showing up with a final 2-9 record. Dave Tracey played first-string quarterback. Mitch Bycura was the outstanding player on the squad, according to coach Zamboni. Coach Zamboni predicts that the team will improve greatly for next year.

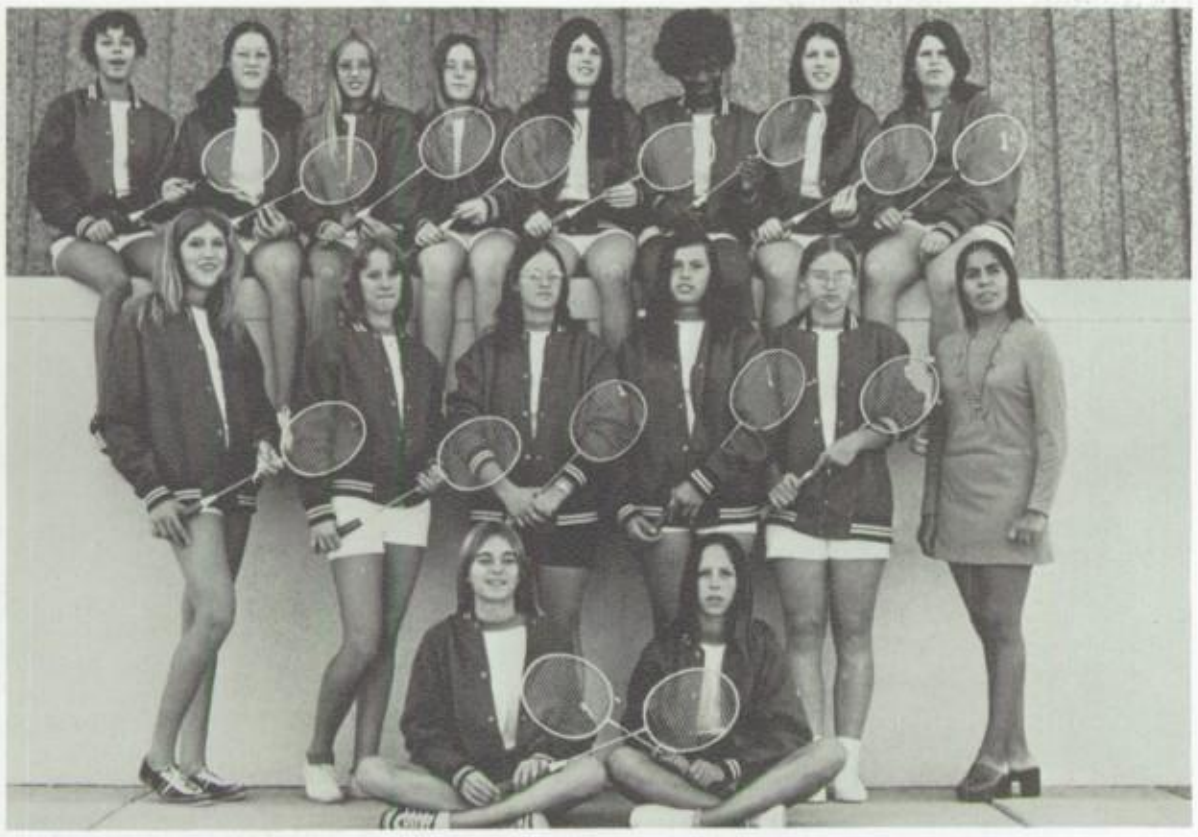
The late-blooming frosh see to be good prospects for next year's junior va sity squad, according to coaches.

Badminton is in the Swing



Sedera Peterman was this year's leading player on Trevor G. Browne's Badminton Team. Although the team lost the majority of it's games, they ranked fifty in singles and eleventh in doubles in state. Ms. Mary Jane Bird taught the team. The team really learned from her and she said she enjoyed coaching them.

With a won-loss record of 9–7, the freshman basketball team is very "youthful" according to coach Gary Taylor. Although young, by most standards, the team continued to improve throughout the year.

Fine spirit and good leadership made the difference according to the coach. This was especially evident during the triumphant victory over Maryvale 45–40.

Individual success stories for the Orange and Brown teams include a mention of Jim Tooms for the breaking of the freshman school record for scoring at 216 points. Dennis Hockabout is also outstanding this year for his 178 rebound plays.

Spirit Is Success

Above: Rick Watts and unidentified East High Longhorn vie for the ball in a jump shot. In that game Boyd Connors scored 11 points and Watts, 10. East was later in the state championship finals.

Despite the dismal statistics of 3–7 for league play and 8–11 for overall play, this year's varsity basketball team has many commendable assets.

Going into the state semi-finals in a tie for fourth, Coach Jerry Hahn proudly pointed out that at the beginning of the year, Browne was predicted to be last in AAA competition. "As far as we are concerned, for a second year school we are very successful. We're not satisfied, of course, but we've got tremendous team spirit. The reason we feel successful is that the team plays well together. All 12 kids in their own way have been responsible for success. If not in the games, then in practice."

Outstanding players this year include Boyd Connors and Rick Watts.

Citing the example he remembers best, Hahn explains how Boyd Connors sprained his ankle the day before the North game and Brian McCusker made his first varsity game appearance. He made 13 points, 7 rebounds, and 4 assists and played a tremendous game. He played a fine game for a seasoned player and in a game when the team was slated as the underdog, even without the high-point player, the game was won.

This year's junior varsity coach is Ken Ashley and Freshman coaches are Gary Taylor and Jimmy Johnson.

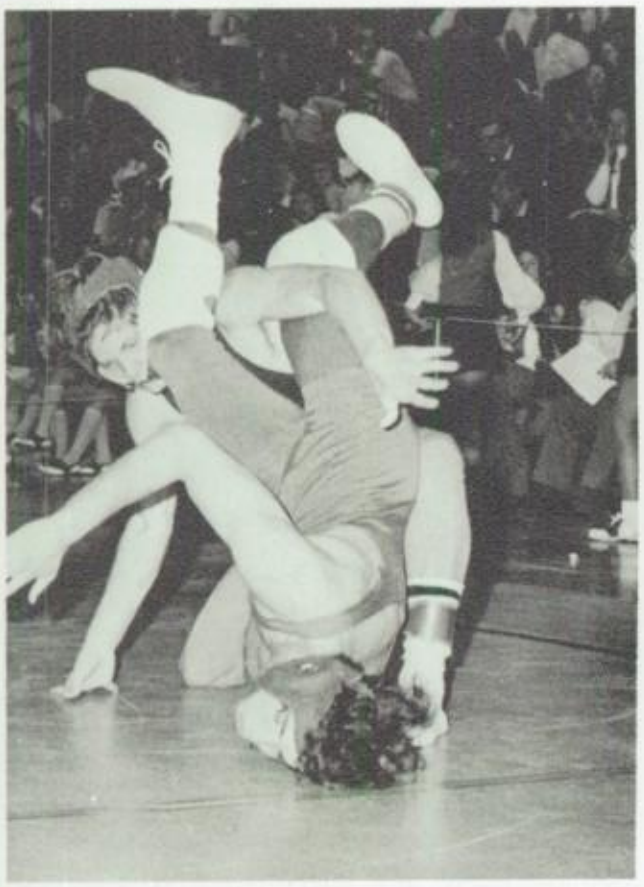
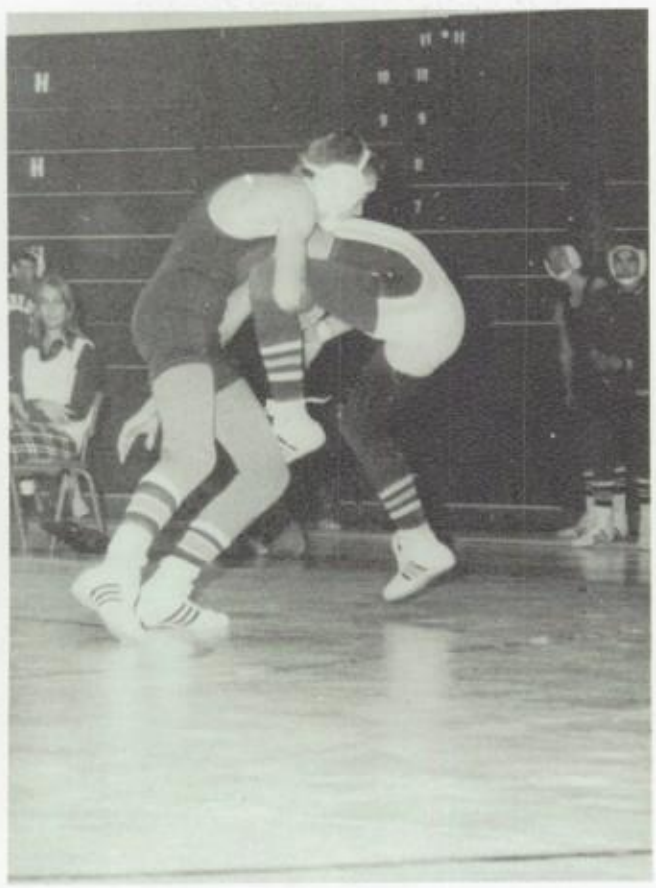
Wrestlers Contort Like Pretzels





Four consecutive pins against Central High is the most memorable experience varsity wrestlers give for the '74 season.

Roger Gregoire, Scott Johnson, Nick Vakula and Steve Vakula all pinned their opponents in the Central match. This was the most outstanding performance during this year's 3–7 wrestling season. Darrel Goodin in the 188 pound category placed 2nd in the Divisionals.

Up to now, girls' sports have not had equal representation. A separate but equal girls interscholastic program in the Phoenix Union High School District has been set up. Provided there is a coach and sufficient interest, several sports will be phased into the program. In the district badminton, tennis, golf, gymnastics, archery and swimming are now offered. Eventually there will be field hockey, softball, basketball, cross country, track and field and volleyball. This means separate inter-school competition state-wide for both boys and girls. Girls will be able to earn awards and recognition for their sports ability.

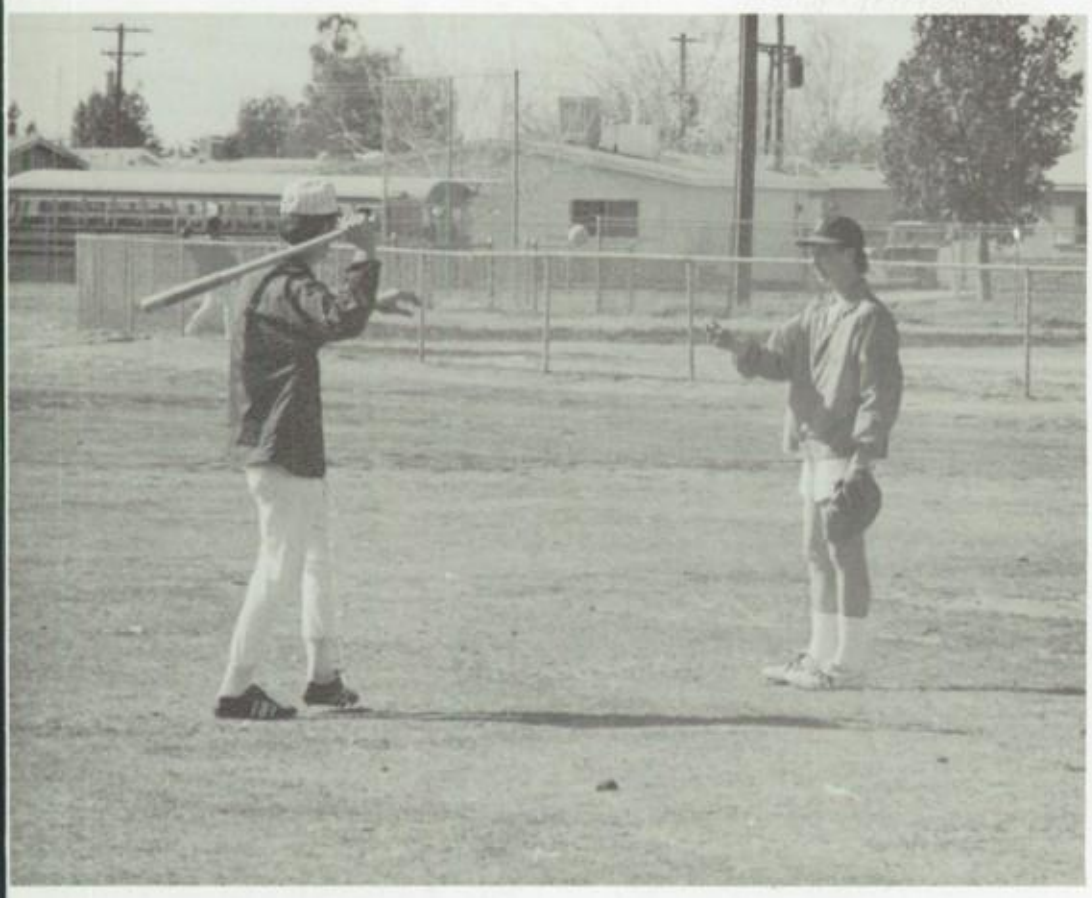
Good Fielding Helps Bruin Defense



Coach Garry Taylor predicts a very successful season for the junior varsity baseball team. With a 2—0 win, loss record at the beginning of the year, Taylor optimistically predicts that the team's "fine fielding led by Tim Durham and our hitting should eventually come around," will lead the Bruins to many more victories.

Dan Bergman, C.J. Sells and Steve Barton will lead the offensive attack with the prophecy that they should win 12 to 14 games this season, according to the coach.

With only two senior starters and seven underclassmen, this year's varsity baseball team has a tough schedule of 18 games. Three losses at the beginning of the season make it doubtful that the team will reach the tournament play-offs at the end of the season.

Players on this year's roster include: Catchers—Greg LeBeouf, Doug Howe, Greg LeMieux. Pitcher—Rob Lincoln. Managers—Art Carpenter, Fred Cano. 1st base—Carl Nix and Garry Hammond. 2nd base—Phil Stika, Pat Whipps. Shortstop—Boyd Conner, Tim Tinsley. 3rd base—Gary Eslinger. Outfield—Pete Christofolo, Ron Jones, Johnny Quijada, Garald Nagelhout, John Southland and Rob Tschilar.

With the track season just beginning as the yearbook is being finished, it is difficult to predict how well the track season will succeed. Coach Brown, varsity track coach, feels the chances for success are better than average.

Facing a difficult task without adequate track facilities, Brown cites the following youngsters as showing great promise for the '74 season: Mike Johnson — sprints; Mike Frye — hurdles; Dirk Rommeswinkel — mile and 2 mile runs; Jim Sanders — pole vault; Mike Gibbs — shot put; Mike Kusche — discus; Doug Cochran — middle distance; and Craig Smith — long jump.

Many weekends will find Bruin band members attending events such as the ASU Band Festival. The fifty members of the group find many activities to fill their time. An eight-member band council decides which activities should be tackled by the always-energetic band.

This year Browne's music department is offering individual vocational music. This new offering prepares serious music students for advanced music study. In addition to the new course, the full program offers credits in varsity band, junior varsity band, and stage band. Mr. Lewis Finell, music director, also helps in orchestra and chorus classes. In addition to attending classes, the students in band put in long hours of practice for football games, concert dates, parades, plays and other activities requiring musical accompaniment.

Many mornings in the predawn grey, band members can be seen marching on the Estrella School grounds practicing their routines. During basketball season, the band offers musical support and during concert season the stage band performs for the enjoyment of the students and parents at Spotlight performances, concerts, musicals and other events.

All is not work, however, as band members find ample time to attend band parties, go caroling, bowl, play tennis and go skating. They support their activities by selling stationery, car washes, candy sales, booths at the Maryvale fair and other fund raising projects. This money helps to pay for uniforms, accessories, for busses to various activities, scholarships at the end of the year and an awards banquet for outstanding band members.

... A Team

For the first time, gymnastics will be considered a team sport. Starting the season March 12 against Mesa, and then competing in eight other meets, the neophyte team will face stiff competition. The boys will compete in the same events featured in the Olympics, but the girls' team is still awaiting appointment of a coach. Events that the student gymnasts will participate in include the floor exercises, sidehorse, high bar and still rings. Not having facilities to use the high bar and still rings have hampered efforts to prepare for this year's season.

Ewe Weihert, foreign exchange student from Germany and experienced gymnast, will add depth to the team effort. Ewe is one of the few seniors on the team. Coach Zamboni has high hopes for this year's team, although their inexperience in competition will probably be against them this first year.

R.O.T.C. or Reserve Officer Training Corps, provides students with a program where they can earn elective credit and have fun at the same time.

Consisting of color guard, a drill team, a marksmanship program, Rangers and Sponsor Corps, ROTC offers many activities to enhance the program.

Coming under fire for militaristic overtones this year, ROTC counters the charges by offering a program which includes bowling, billiards and other social activities.

In charge of raising the colors every day and at football games, drill team also participates in inter-state drill-offs which bring many trophies to the school.

The Rangers group or the elite branch of ROTC cadets, learn basic desert survival skills.

This year "The Bear Facts" staff is entirely female with the exception of their photographer. This doesn't mean that they don't work hard anyway!

Some of their activities include attending conventions such as the AIPA Publications Workshop in Tucson and J-CON day at ASU. They also have fun activities such as a party at South Mountain with the yearbook staff.

This year they were priveleged to have Jack Marcks working with them. He represented the On-Site program at ASU.

At Trevor Browne, the Lair is supported completely by students. Students do everything from taking and developing pictures to drawing layouts to delivering the book at the end of the year. In addition, they attend conventions such as the AIPA Publications Workshop in Tucson, J-CON Day at ASU, and AIPA Summer Publications Workshop at NAU. Next year, the Lair staff plans to host the State AIPA Convention here at Trevor Browne, which will accommodate over 700 students.

The staff consists of five photographers and approximately eight staff members, who devote time after school and school holidays to completing the yearbook. They also have entertaining activities such as a Christmas party, a party at South Mountain, and an awards banquet at the end of the year.

Student government is attempting to establish a totally new and unique student government concept. Here at Browne, the division of the school into houses has made it impossible for the student government to be organized along traditional lines. Despite the drawbacks, student government has organized a number of activities this year that have involved large numbers of students. The student constitution had to be changed to allow cooperation among house representatives rather than having three separate student organizations. Homecoming Week activities and half-time show were organized by student government.

In January the Snowball Dance was sponsored by this group and they hope it will become a traditional event. They also sponsored a full week of spirit activities before the Maryvale basketball game by selling kazoos, spirit buttons, sponsoring the Nifty 50's Dance and organizing activities like the Lovely Legs Contest, Backwards Day and Nifty 50's Day. In April a trip to Disneyland and an all-school picnic were main items on the agenda. May brings warm weather and student government sponsored projects such as the Junior-Senior Prom and the All-Night party.

On-the-job training, a chance to earn pay while learning a trade and get a credit in school is what V.I.C.A. is all about. Mr. Dick Troxel, V.I.C.A. sponsor and Browne industrial arts department head, explains that students in the organization work 15 hours a week on the job for two credits and get one credit for classroom instruction in their vocational area. Bricklaying, welding, auto body repair, painting, baking, photography, cabinet-making, meat cutting and other areas that are not offered on campus enable students to enlarge their opportunities in various vocational fields.

The program utilizes the industries and businesses of the community as training stations. In April an employer-employee banquet is held.

Below left: The new industrial arts building, slated for completion by September of '74 is seen as the prefabricated walls are hoisted into place and adjoined to the roof and floor structure. The new building will add 16,400 sq. ft. of space for classrooms and labs and a 12,400 sq. ft. area enclosed service yard.

Presenting three plays, participating in Spotlight entertainments and sporting new royal blue letter sweaters this year, Thespians are involved in many activities. The two major plays that the group participated in included, "A Doll's House," and "Three One-Act Plays," and one spring production. Mrs. Barbi Finell is the drama coach this year. Funds for the productions are provided through admissions to the plays. Other activities that Thespians sponsor include cast parties after each production and a Christmas party.

Thespians belong to an international organization to promote world theater. Thespian members must earn 10 honor points to join the organization through participation in play productions and must earn 30 honor points to earn a letter sweater. Boosters Assist Bruin Activities

The Bruin Booster Club is a service group comprised of parents, teachers and administrators. Objectives and goals of the organization are designed to assist all academic and athletic activities at Trevor Browne High School with financial and personal support. In its two year existence the Booster Club has donated over $3500 in financial aid. Among athletic donations are a spotter table for gymnastics, headgear for wrestling, a blocking machine for football, and nametags for basketball jackets. The Booster Club sponsors several sports and academics Awards Banquets throughout the school year. Other donations include support to the yearbook, newspaper, band, drama department, and Poms. The majority of the money is earned through a concession stand operated by Booster Club members at all home ball games.

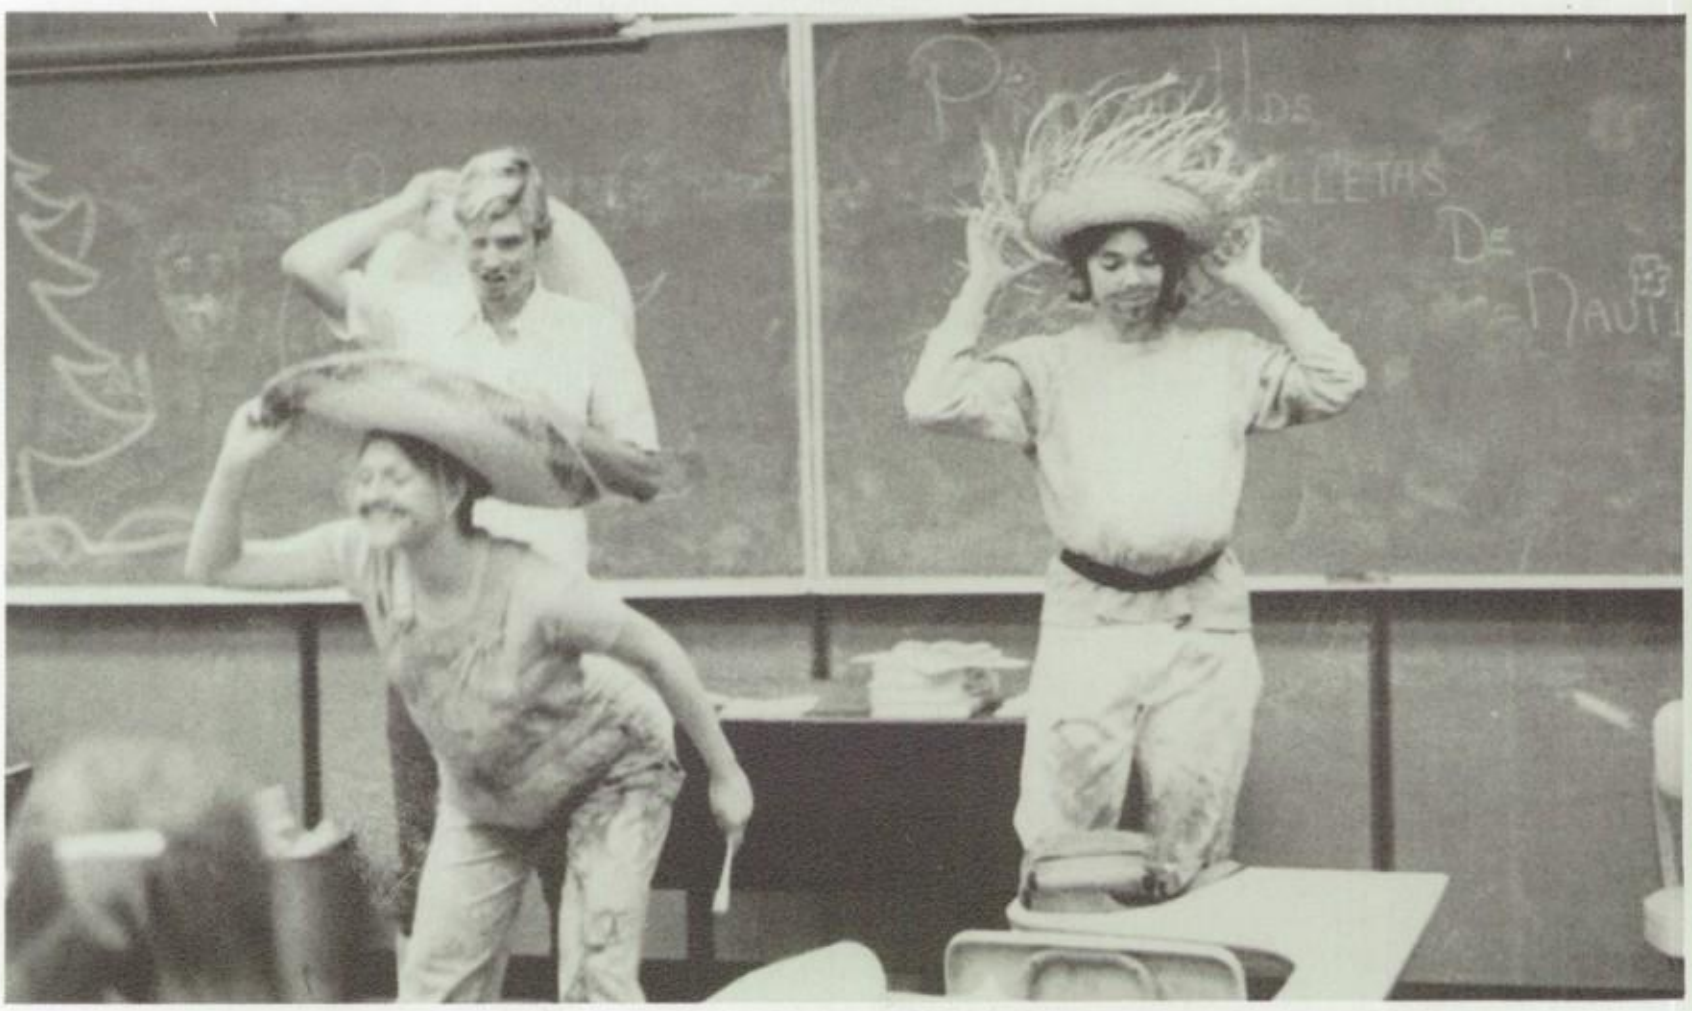
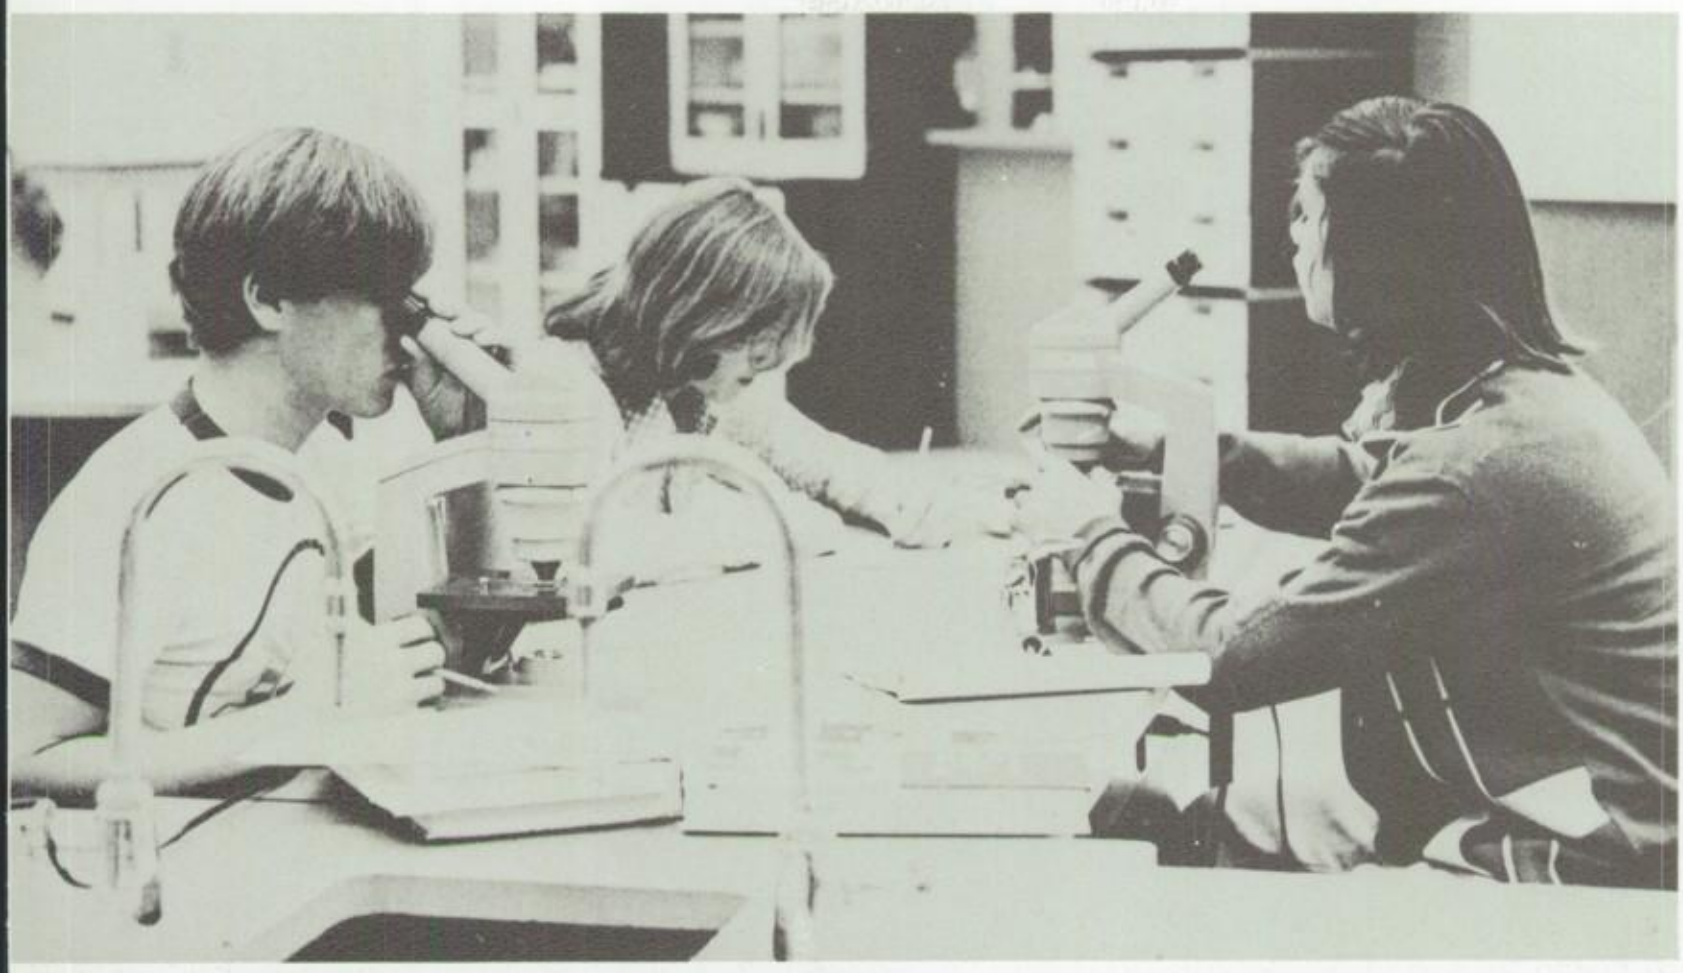
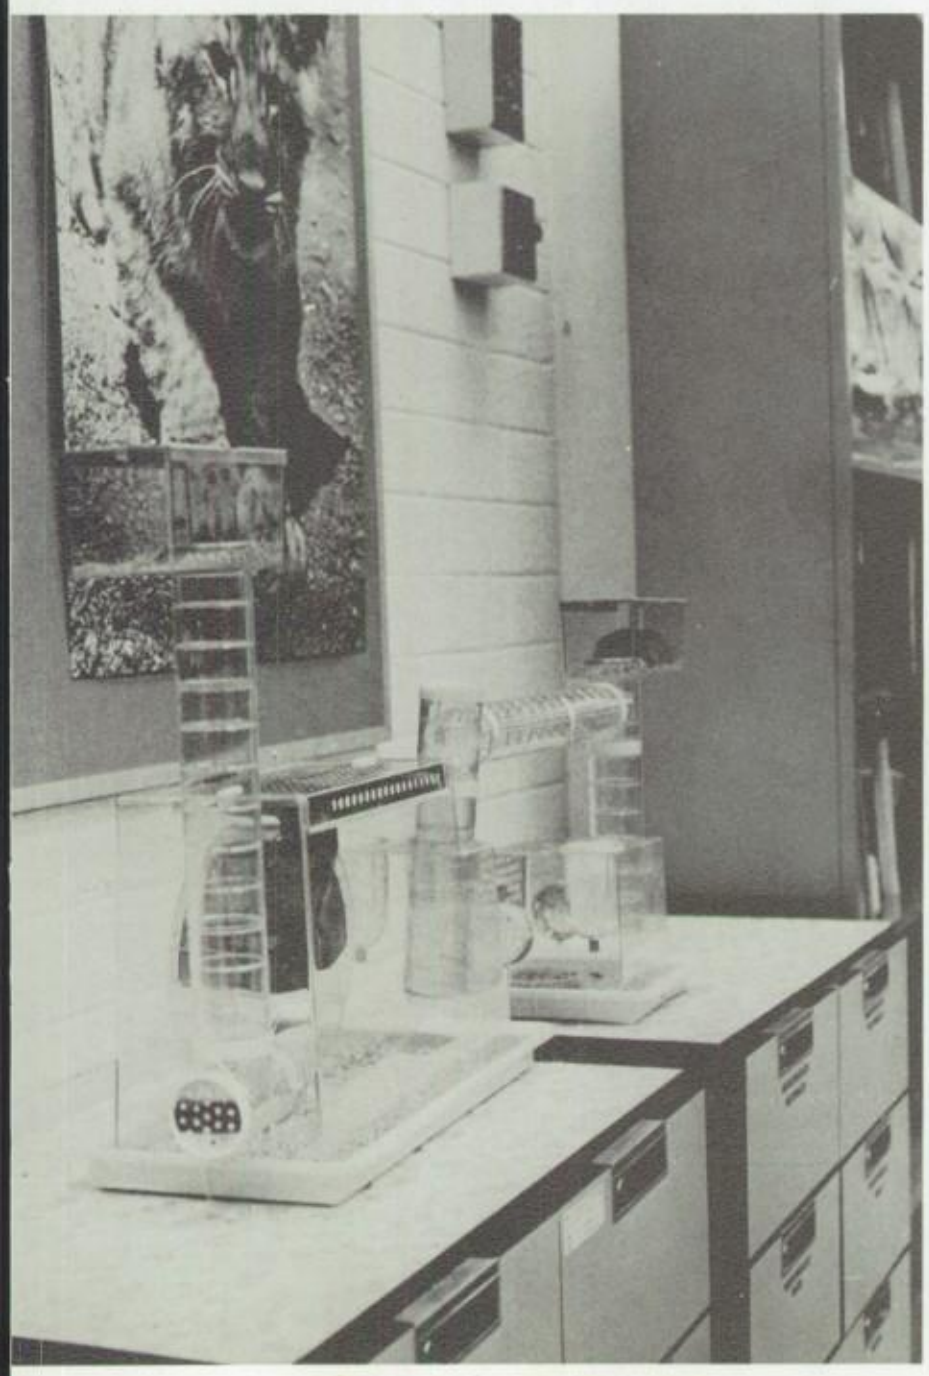
Foreign Language

Our high school courses include several foreign languages. For the student who wants to become a bi-lingual, French is offered, also Spanish. Many of the Mexican-American students take advantage of the Spanish classes to learn the grammar, spelling, and vocabulary of their "spoken language". Next year we hope to offer German also.



Science Department



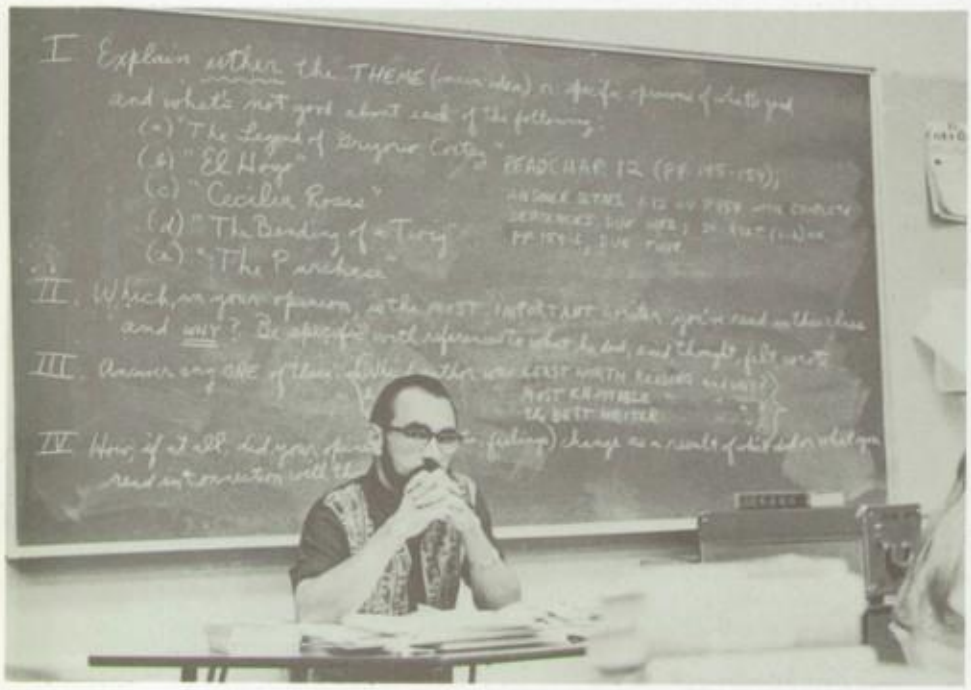


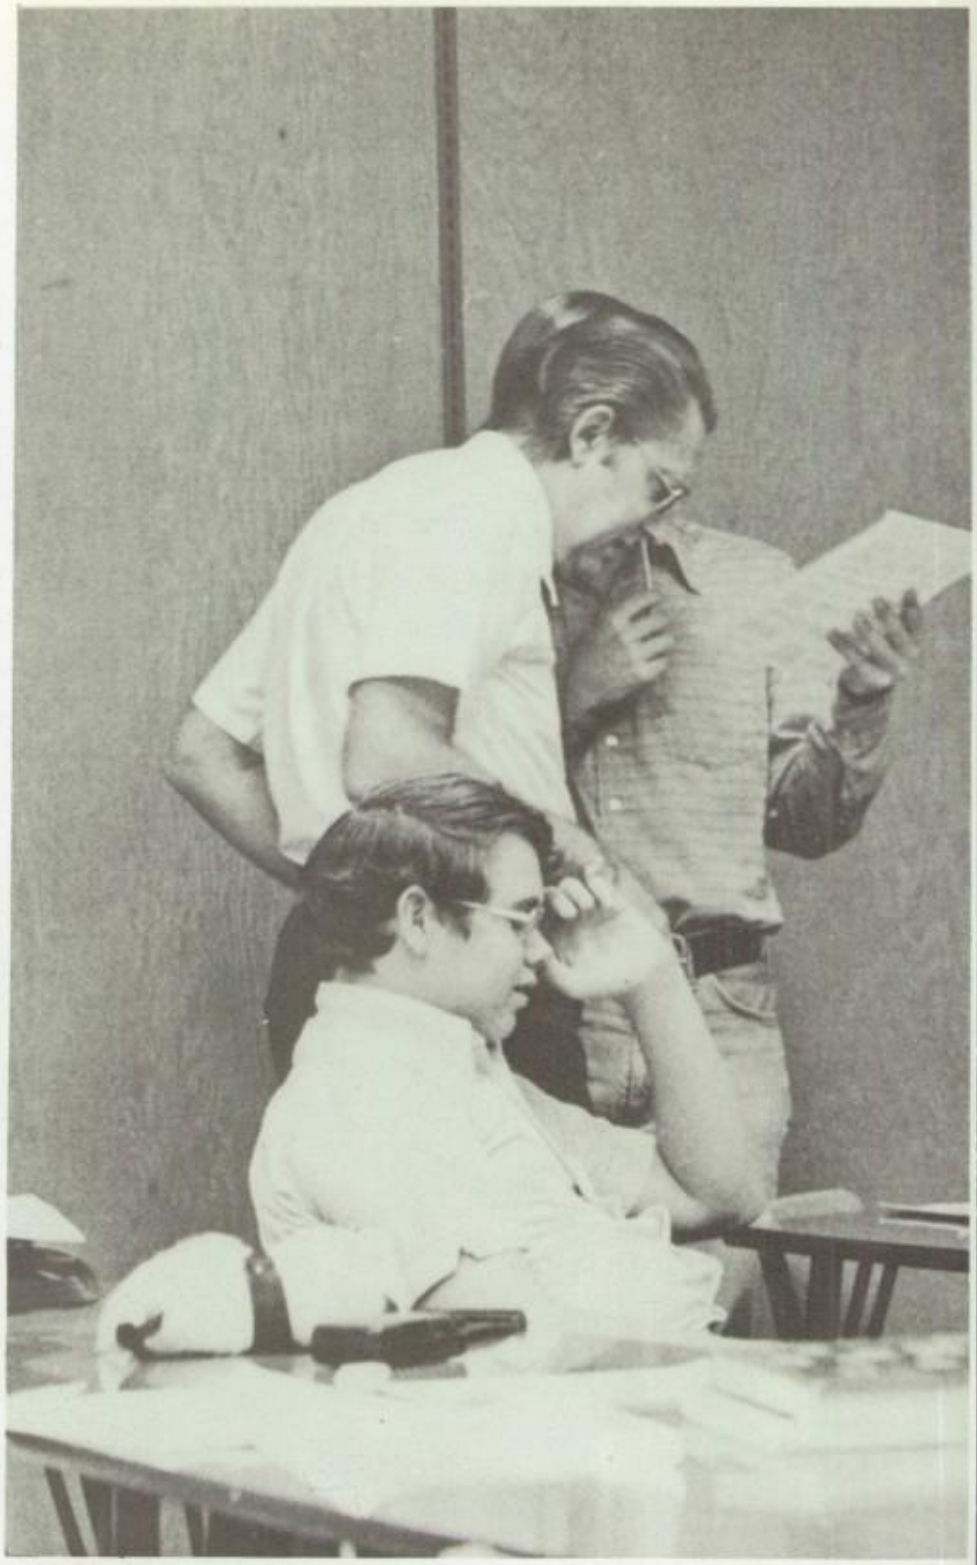
Trevor Browne's science building is based on the open lab concept. There are four desk areas clustered around a sink which provide gas, electricity. Biology, chemistry, physics, and earth and space science classes are offered. One year of a lab science is required for graduation from Browne. Next year astronomy and second year biology will be offered.

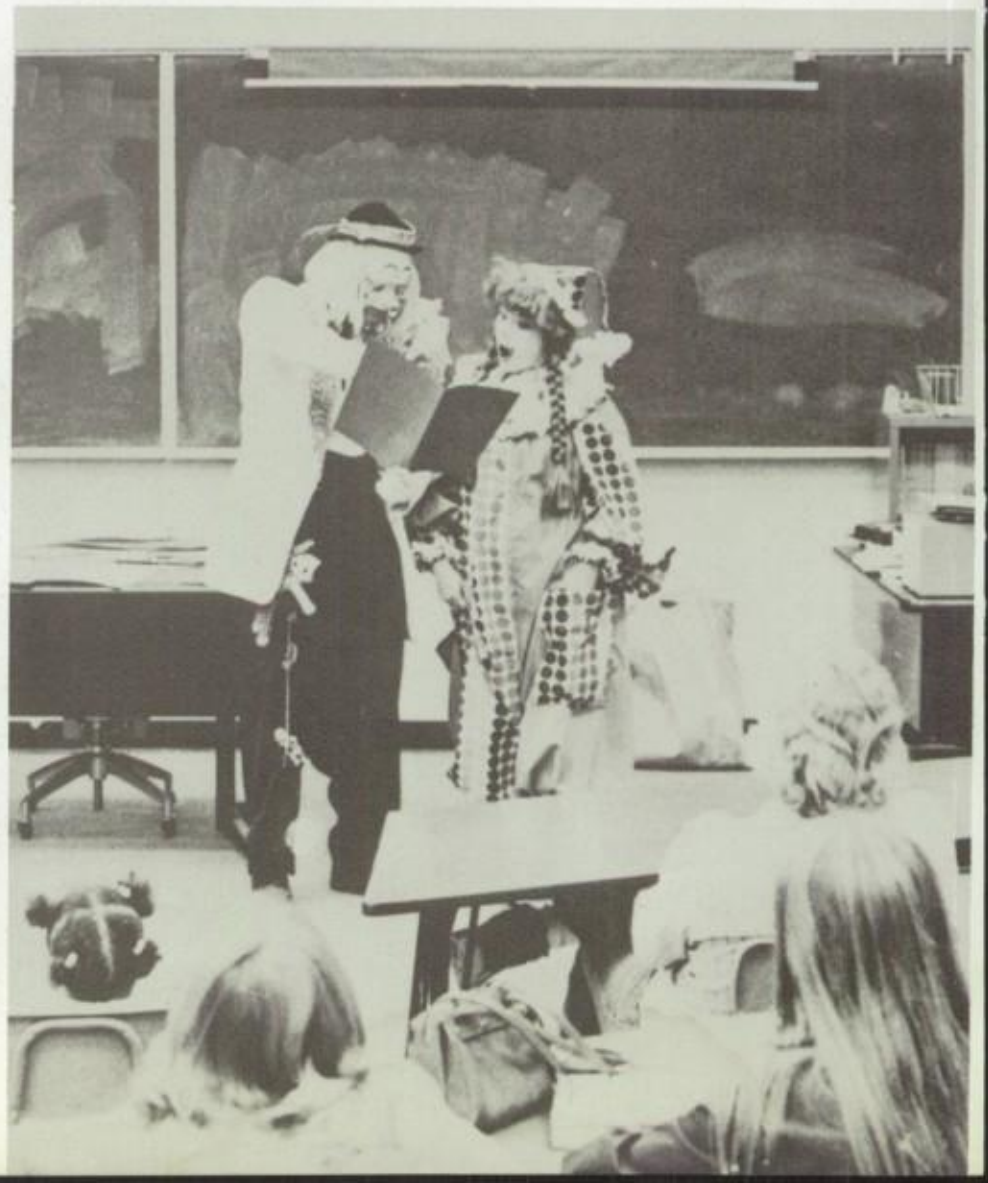
English

Trevor Browne's English Department is a very important part of the curriculum of each student. To read well, write well, and gain a knowledge of the literature, old and new, adds to the individual's learning, and helps to mold one's life for the future.

Some of the classes offered at Browne are mythology, Bible as literature, mystery and detective, sematics and logic, individualized reading, mass media, world of the theater, basic, intermediate, and advanced composition, and children's literature.

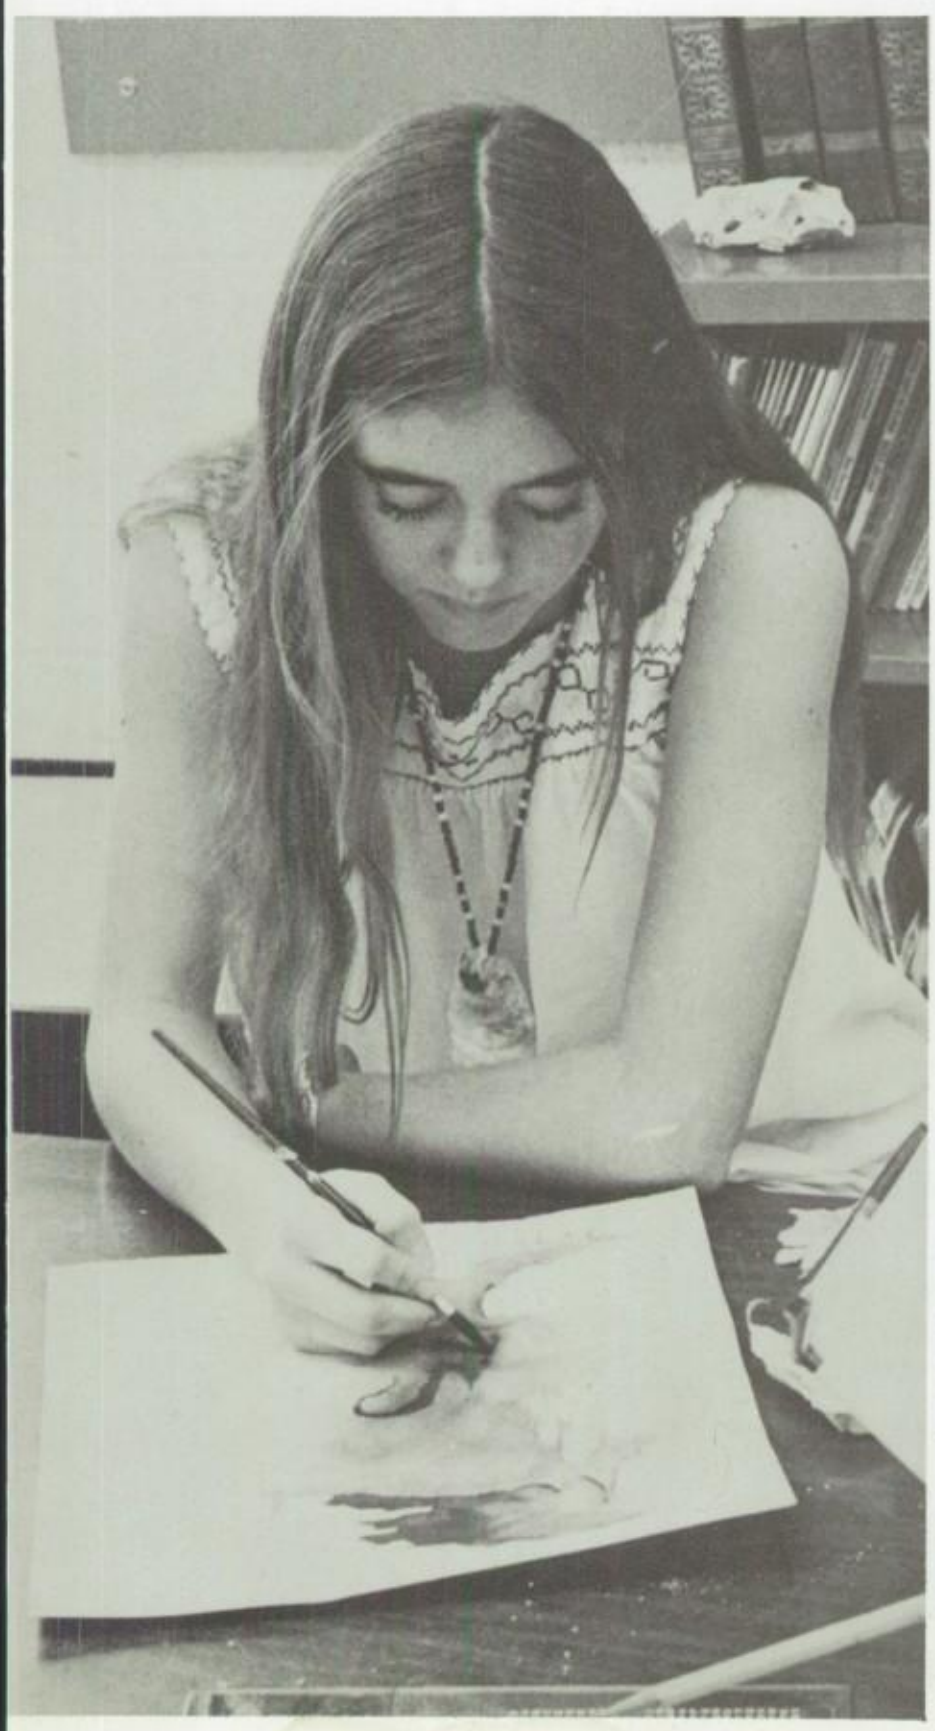






Performing Arts Department

This year at Browne the performing arts department covers a wide variety of classes. Marching band, J.V. band, jazz rock, orchestra, vocational music, concert choir, girls choir, beginning art, painting, drawing, sculpture, ceramics, crafts, graphics, photography, and drama are included in these. The department produced a number of evening programs entitled "Spotlight", displaying portions of the entire performing arts area. In addition, the drama department produced three plays throughout the year, and the art department has had a number of displays in the cafeteria.



Mathematics

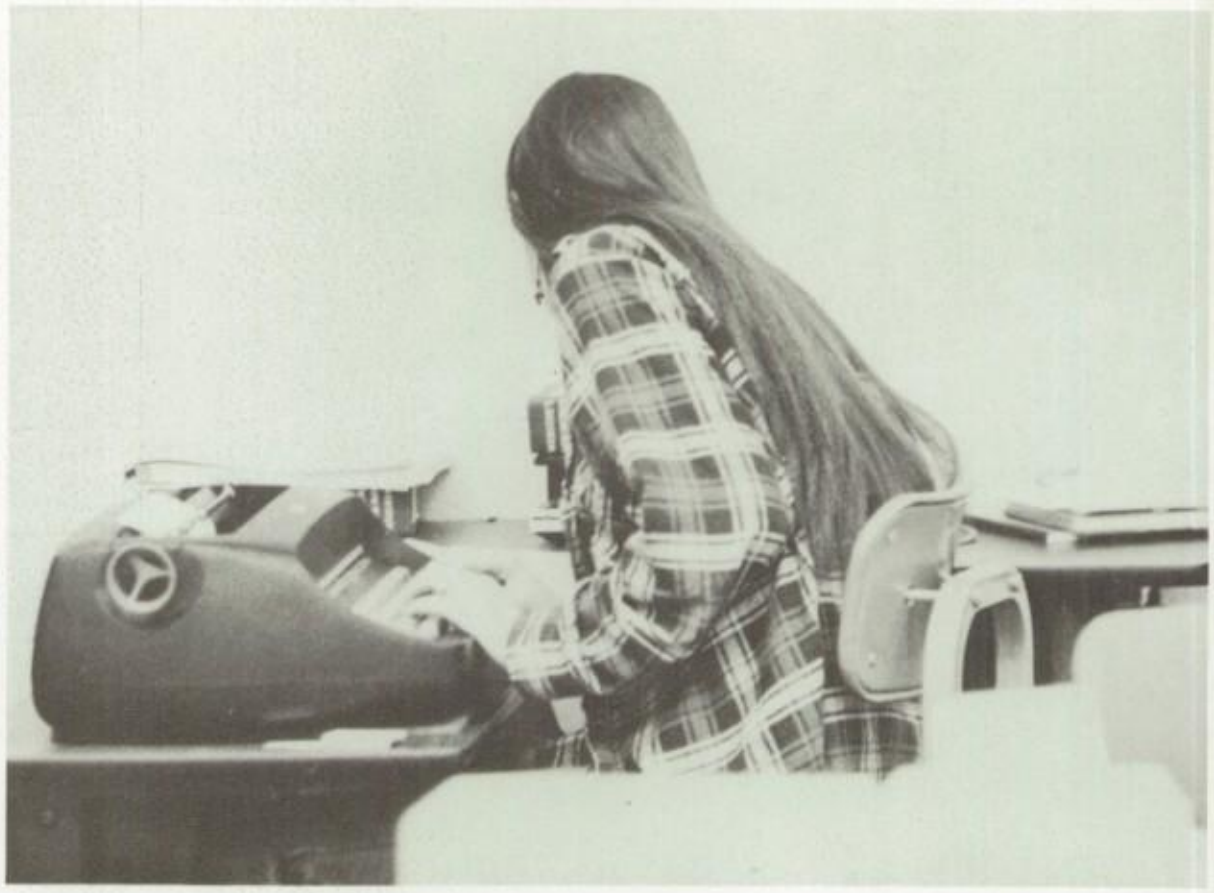
The phrase "reading, writing, and arithmetic" is as important a part of our studies as it was many years ago. Math has become one of the main subjects that affects every life today. Economics, the space programs, the vast engineering fields all depend upon high school math. Trevor Browne offers advanced classes such as calculus and computer math for the student who would like to pursue this type of a career.

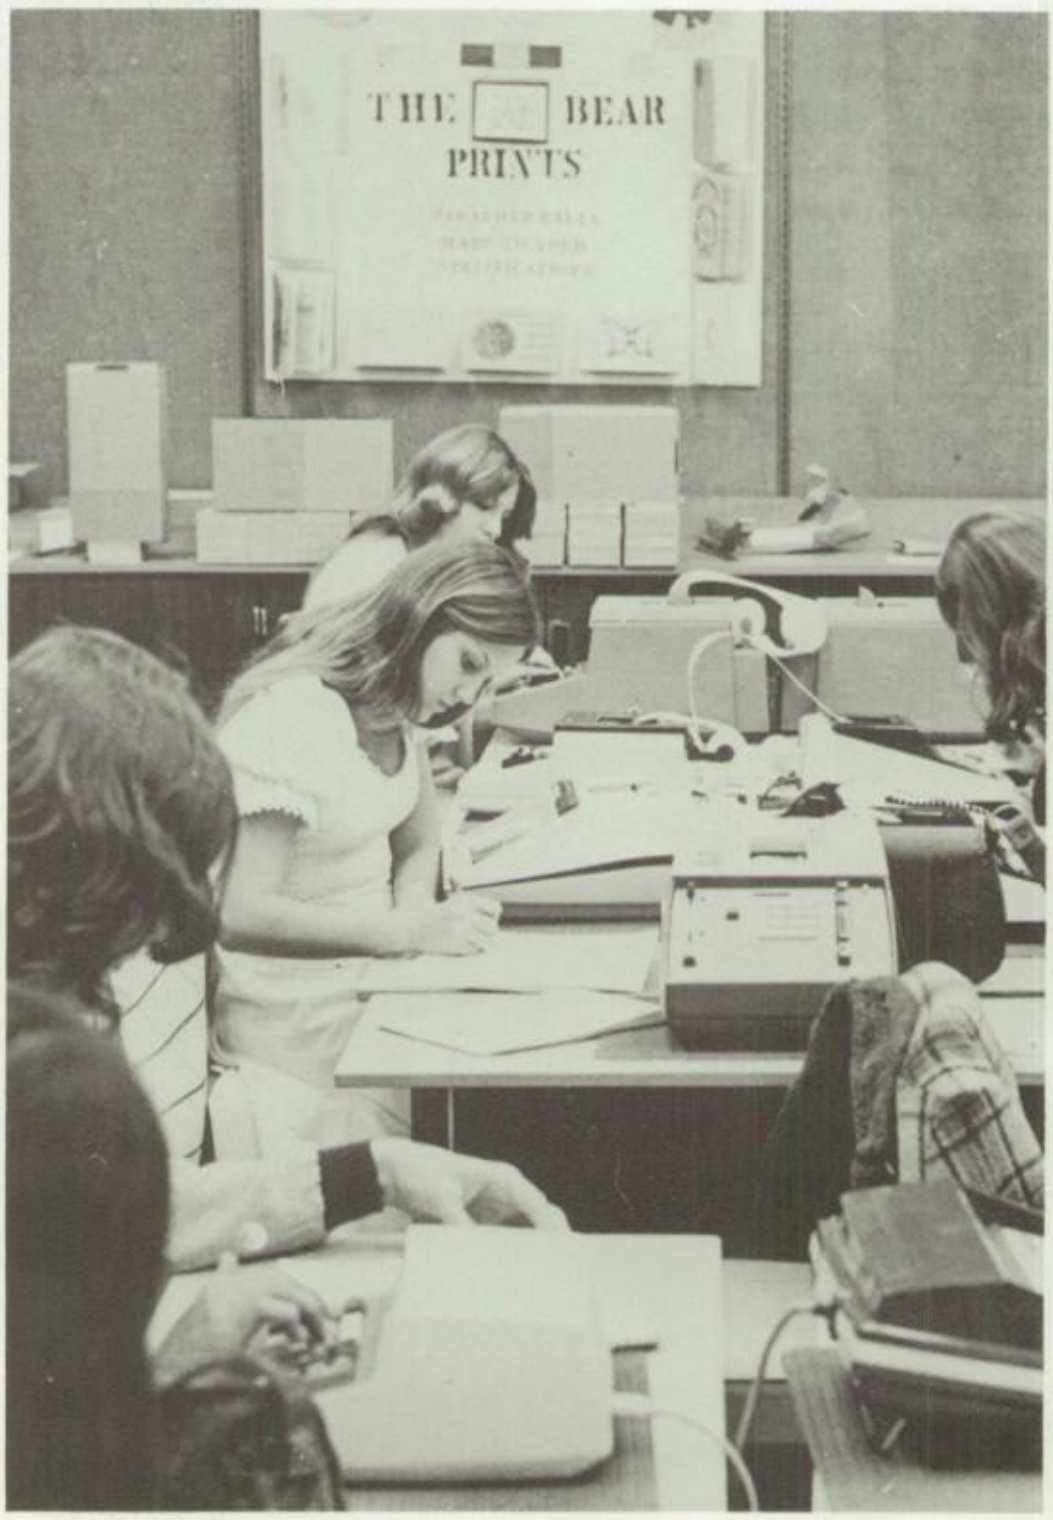
Social Studies

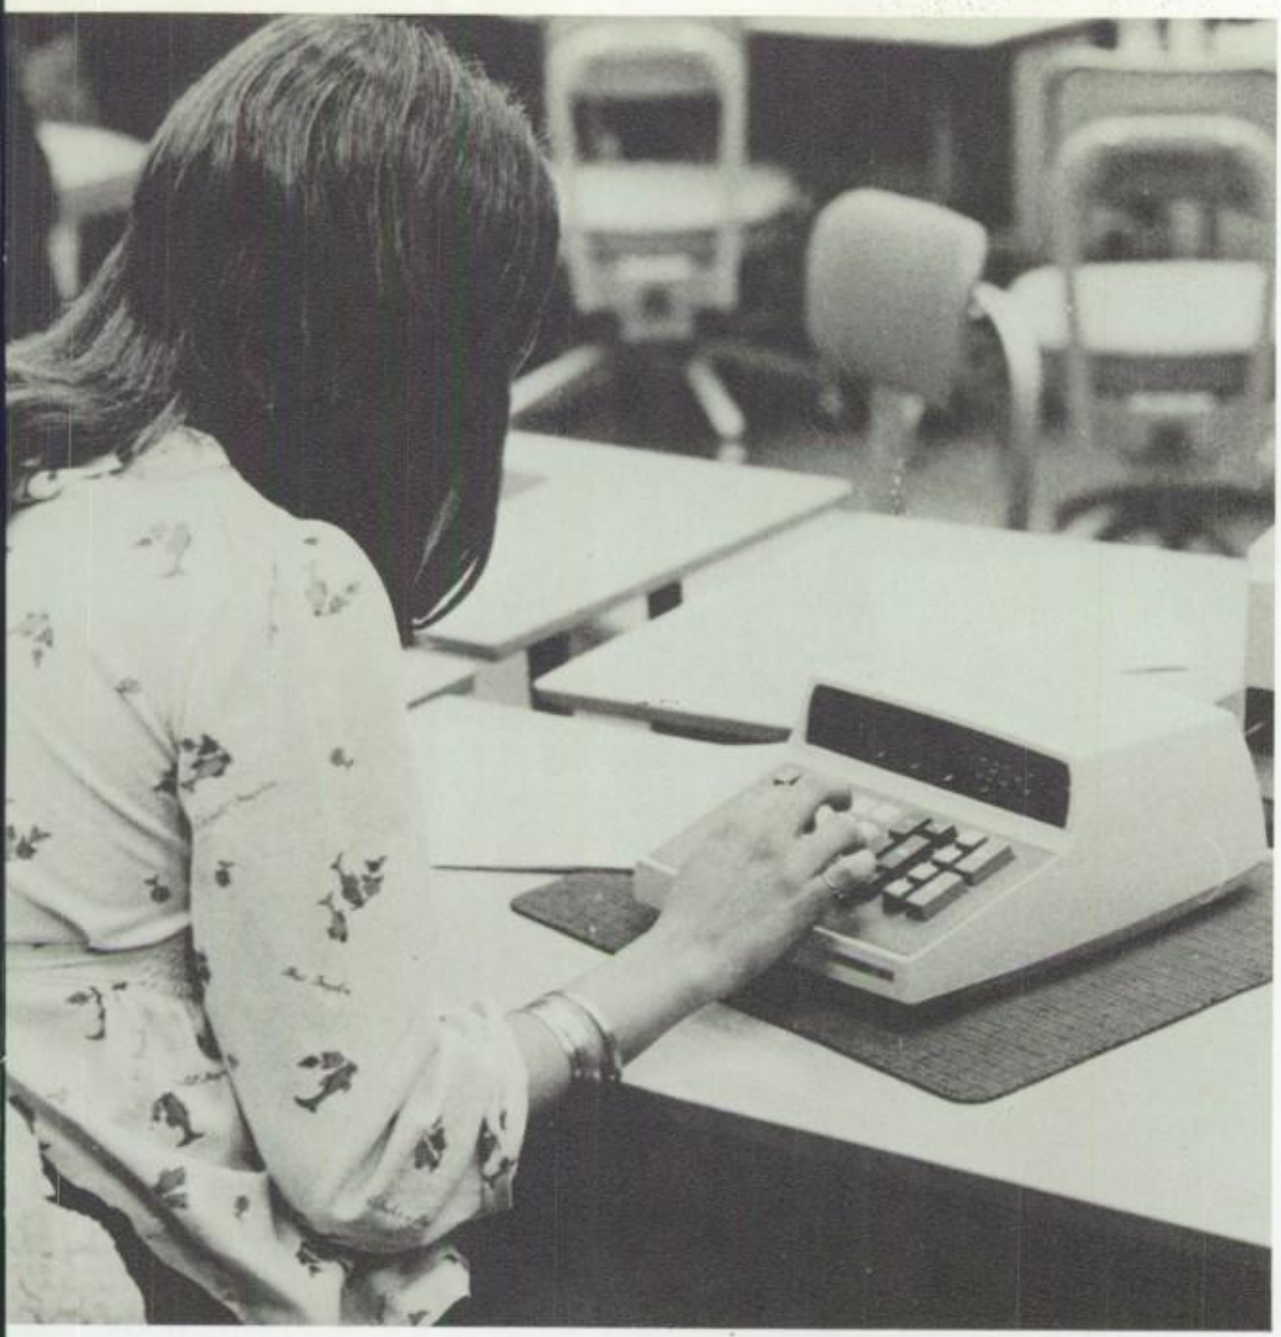
At Trevor G. Browne the required courses for graduation in social studies are American history, American government, Arizona government, and free enterprise. In this era of change it is important for each student to know and appreciate the history and government process of our own country. In addition there are classes offered such as humanities, sociology, anthropology, and Latin-American and world history for the student who might want to major in one of these areas.

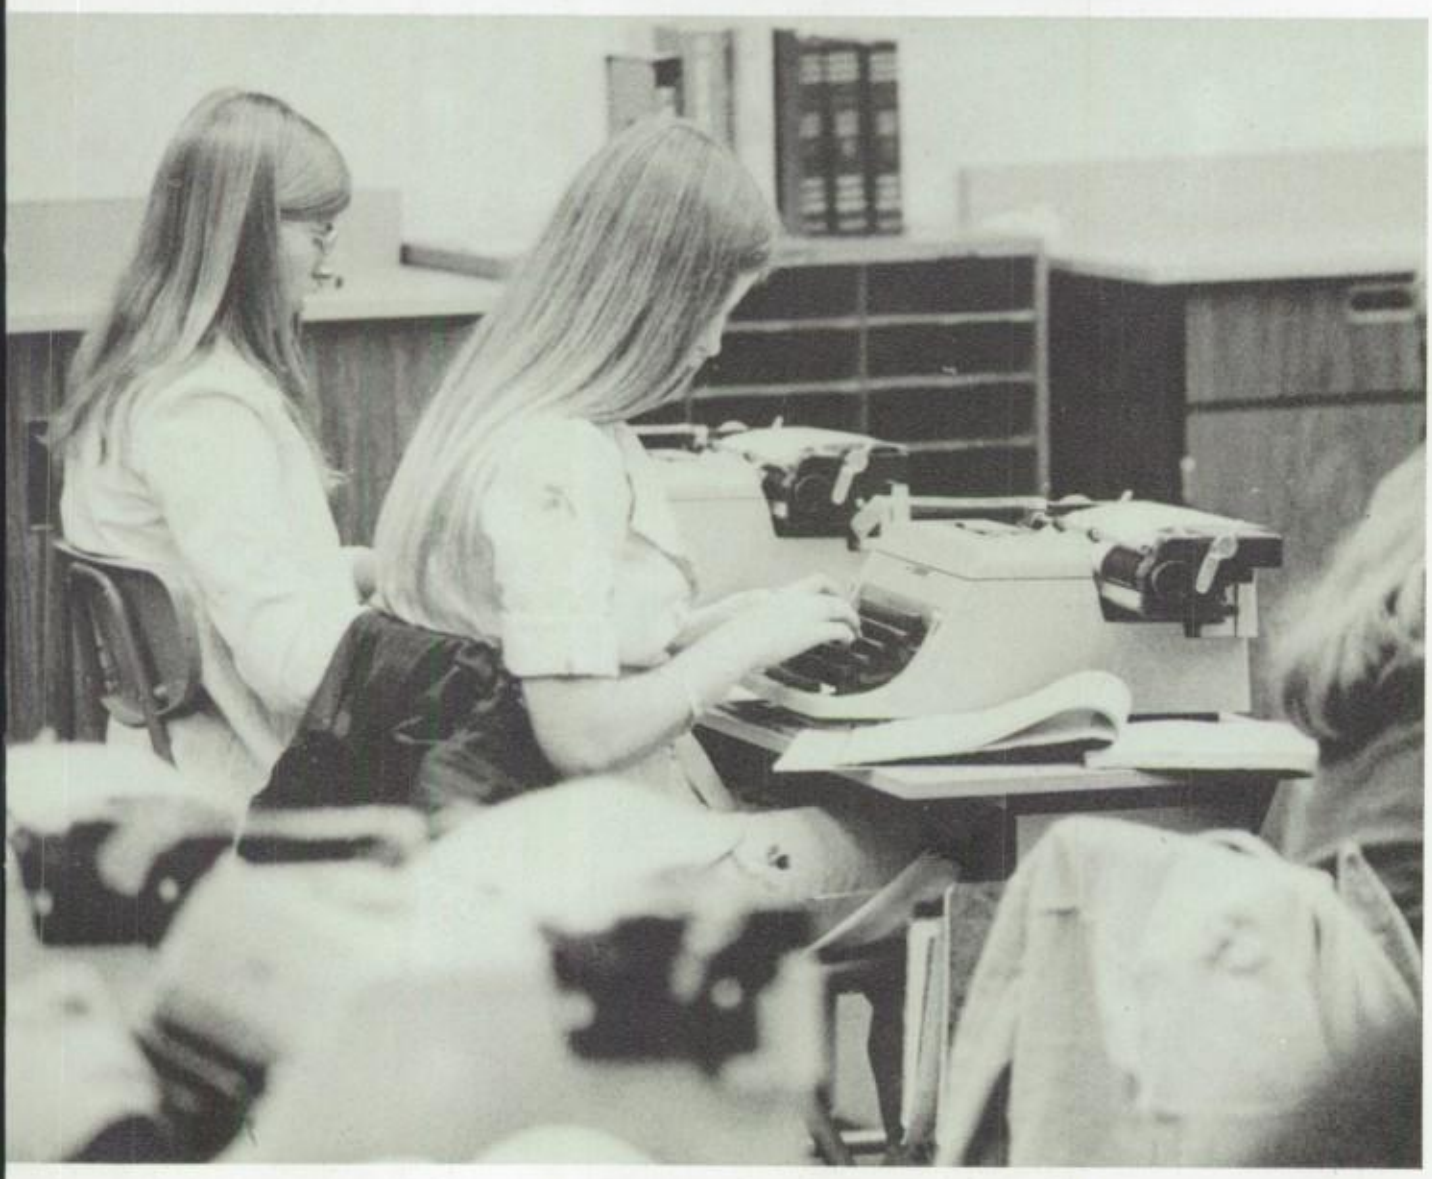
Business Department

Trevor Browne tries to make available to all students a business education suitable for today's needs. There are courses offered in shorthand, typing, business machines, record keeping, accounting, and business law. There are also courses in marketing, distributive education, and cooperative education which provide on the job training in the student store (The Cubby Hole) and throughout the community with various companies. DECA, COE, and FBLA are a definite part of the curriculum in the business education department at Browne.

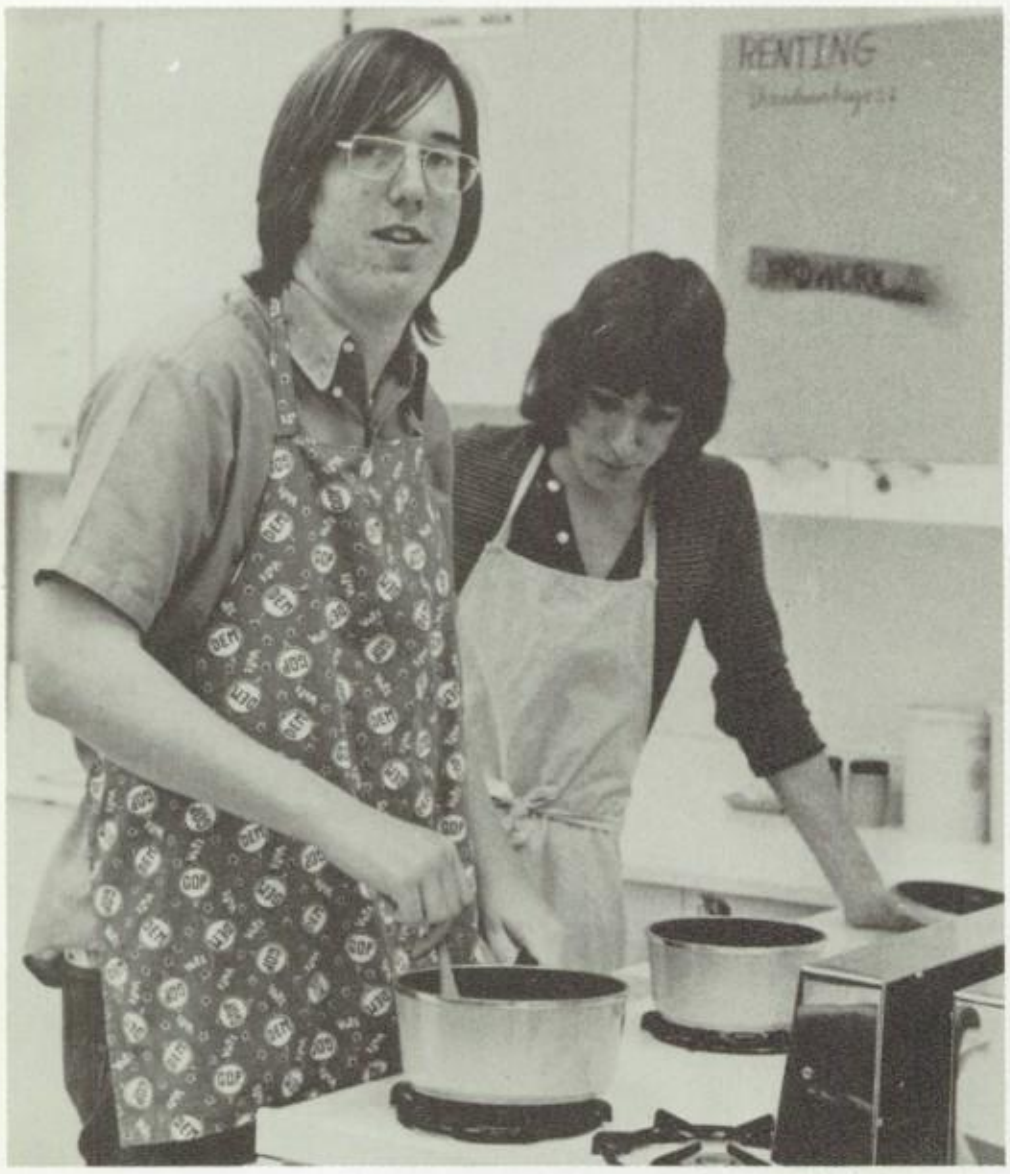








Home Economics



Home economics classes at Browne used to be mostly for girls, but now you see as many boys taking bachelor survival as you see girls taking other home ec classes. Home economics includes not only traditional clothing and foods classes, but also child development, human relations, interior design, and H.E.R.O. Classes in clothing include beginning to advanced construction as well as information about textiles, design of clothing and fabrics, and color coordination. In foods classes emphasis is given to nutrition, food preparation, meal management, and menu planning. Courses in interior design provide the opportunity to learn about various types of home furnishings, coordination of colors and styles of furnishings, and how to plan a room arrangement. Child development even has children in the classroom to observe. Human relations gives you a chance to learn what you're about and how to get along with others. H.E.R.O., in its first year has a different slant than other home ec classes. Students are preparing for a career of their choosing related to home economics. It's not only a class but also a job for several hours a day. Bachelor survival is not just helping a guy survive, but you might just find him enjoying learning how to cook, clean, sew and budget. This helps provide for a new role ahead.

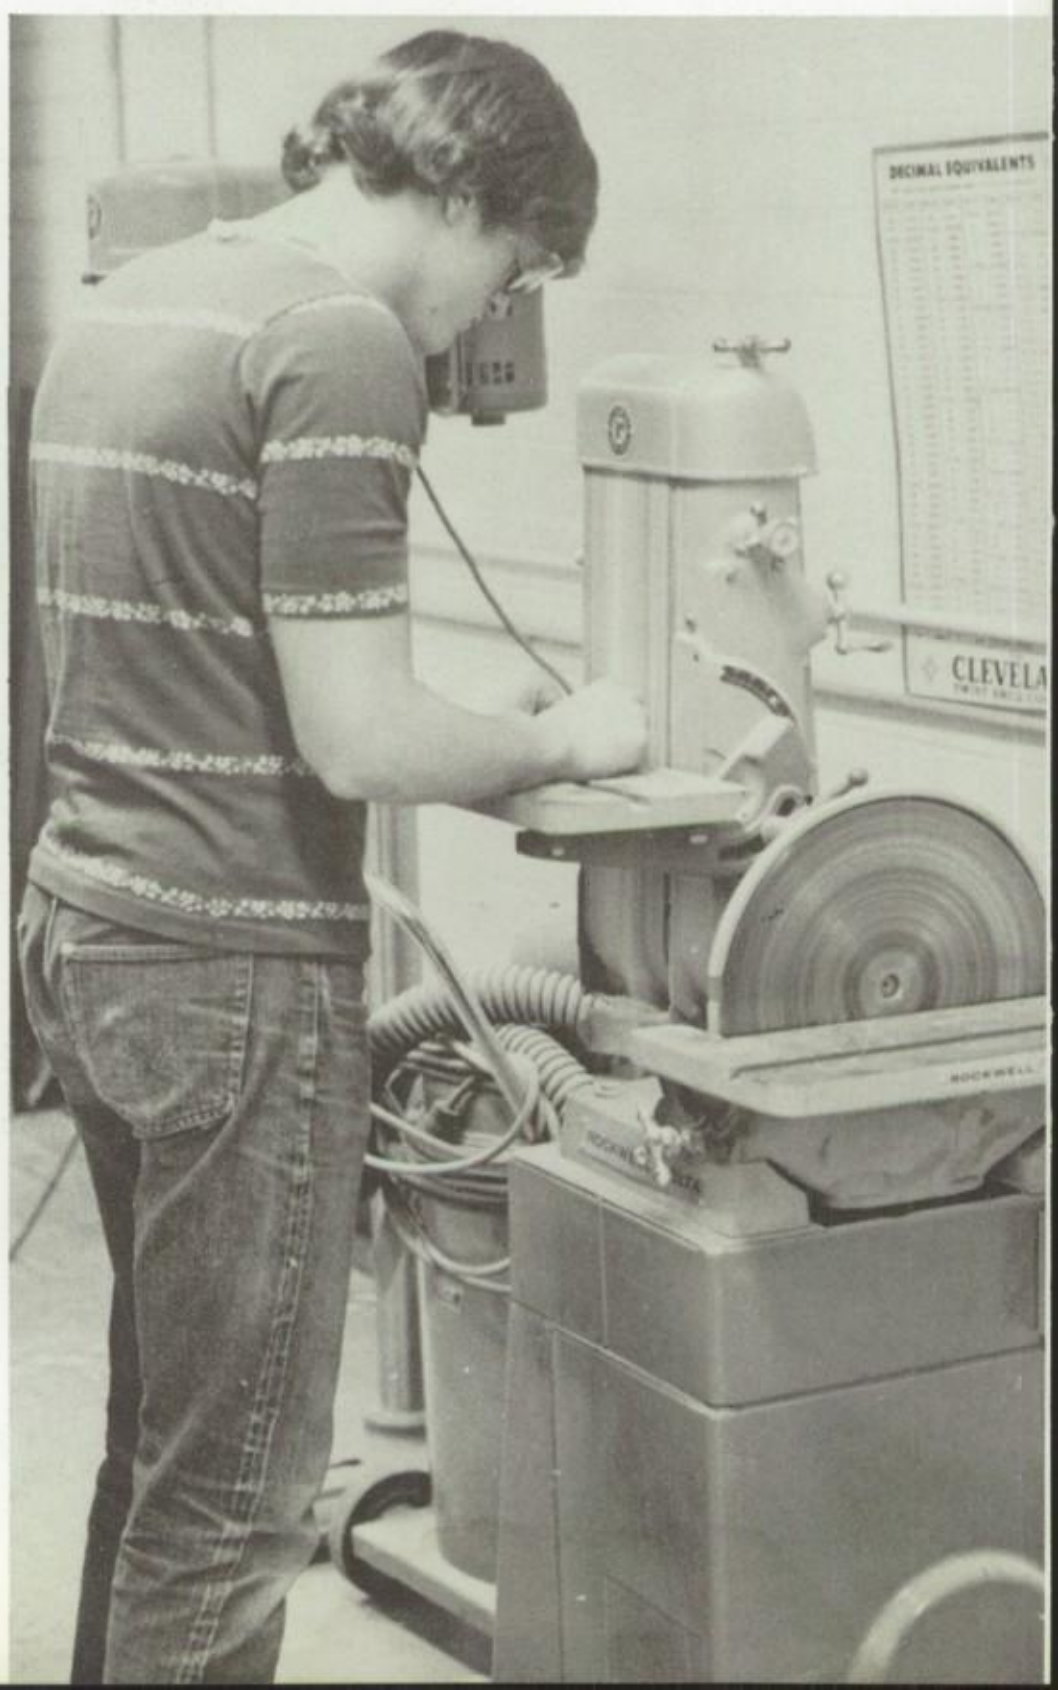
Industrial Arts Department

At Trevor Browne, the industrial arts department offers classes in drafting, plastics, electronics, woods, general shop, power mechanics, metals, and auto shop. This year and last, classes were held in the gymnasium. Now Browne is obtaining a new industrial arts building. It is being built on the north side of the academics building, and will accommodate nearly the entire industrial arts department. The total cost of the building will be $600,000, and the programs will be centered around the open lab concept with a large resource center. Presently there are plans for only one new program: industrial plastics. With proper instruction, the building will be involved in the Community School program also.



P.E. Department

Although not a required course, many students at Browne are enrolled in the physical education program. Classes are offered in health, dance, tennis, golf, basketball, football, and track.

Teachers Go On Strike—Please!

New at T.G.B. is...

In planning this book, I hoped to illustrate all that is new and changing about Trevor Browne. The whole concept of our school is new—architecture, curriculum, and community school. Besides being new to the district, in its second year, Trevor Browne was changing—new buildings and landscaping. An important part of a school is its developing and bettering. Now that we have finished the book, I believe we have shown that Trevor Browne is part of a developing and bettering school system.

I would like to thank the few remaining staff members who worked hard and didn't give up. Thanks to the Administration Office and coaches for all the information. Thanks to the Art Department, Fred, our custodian, and Mrs. Mooningham for keeping her cool. I especially want to thank Bruce D. Brown, my right-hand man, for all of his support.
